THE MANAGER

OWEN COYLE

Good afternoon and a warm welcome to this afternoon's fixture, with Everton the visitors. I'd like to extend those greetings to David Moyes and everyone associated with the Toffees, plus our match sponsors Network Defence.

Last time out at the Reebok we had a tremendous result against a quality Stoke City team, running out worthy 5-0 winners.

Regardless of who you face in this league I believe that no other side will put you under more pressure inside the penalty area than Stoke do with their set-plays, but we dealt with that and the clean sheet was another pleasing aspect from the performance.

We brought everything together, reached our maximum and got the result that our complete performance deserved. Those 90 minutes showed what we are capable of when we play to the best of our ability.

We accept that there will be tough times in the season, but we have a belief and we know how we want to progress and develop our club. We have a good group of players and we have shown we can win games and pick up points in the Barclays Premier League.

There is no doubt that we have been frustrated with injuries this season, that is the nature of football and we have just got on with the job in hand. But it's been positive to have one of those who have been out long-term back as Sam Ricketts returned to light training recently after spending a lot of time on the sidelines.

At the Hawthorns last weekend we had a very good first half in which we battled well, were committed and were the better team. After we fell behind I thought we bounced back and scored a deserved equaliser. We then had chances to get in front.

At half-time we were still very much in the game, but the disappointment was that in the second half we were not at the same levels that we were in the first. At 2-1 we were left chasing the game and as much as we pushed on we couldn't get back on level terms again.

As has been the case all season, our fans last week were magnificent and we will need everyone behind us again as we look to record back-to-back home wins this afternoon. We had a good record against Everton last season, picking up four points against them from our two meetings, but we know it will be a difficult task this afternoon.

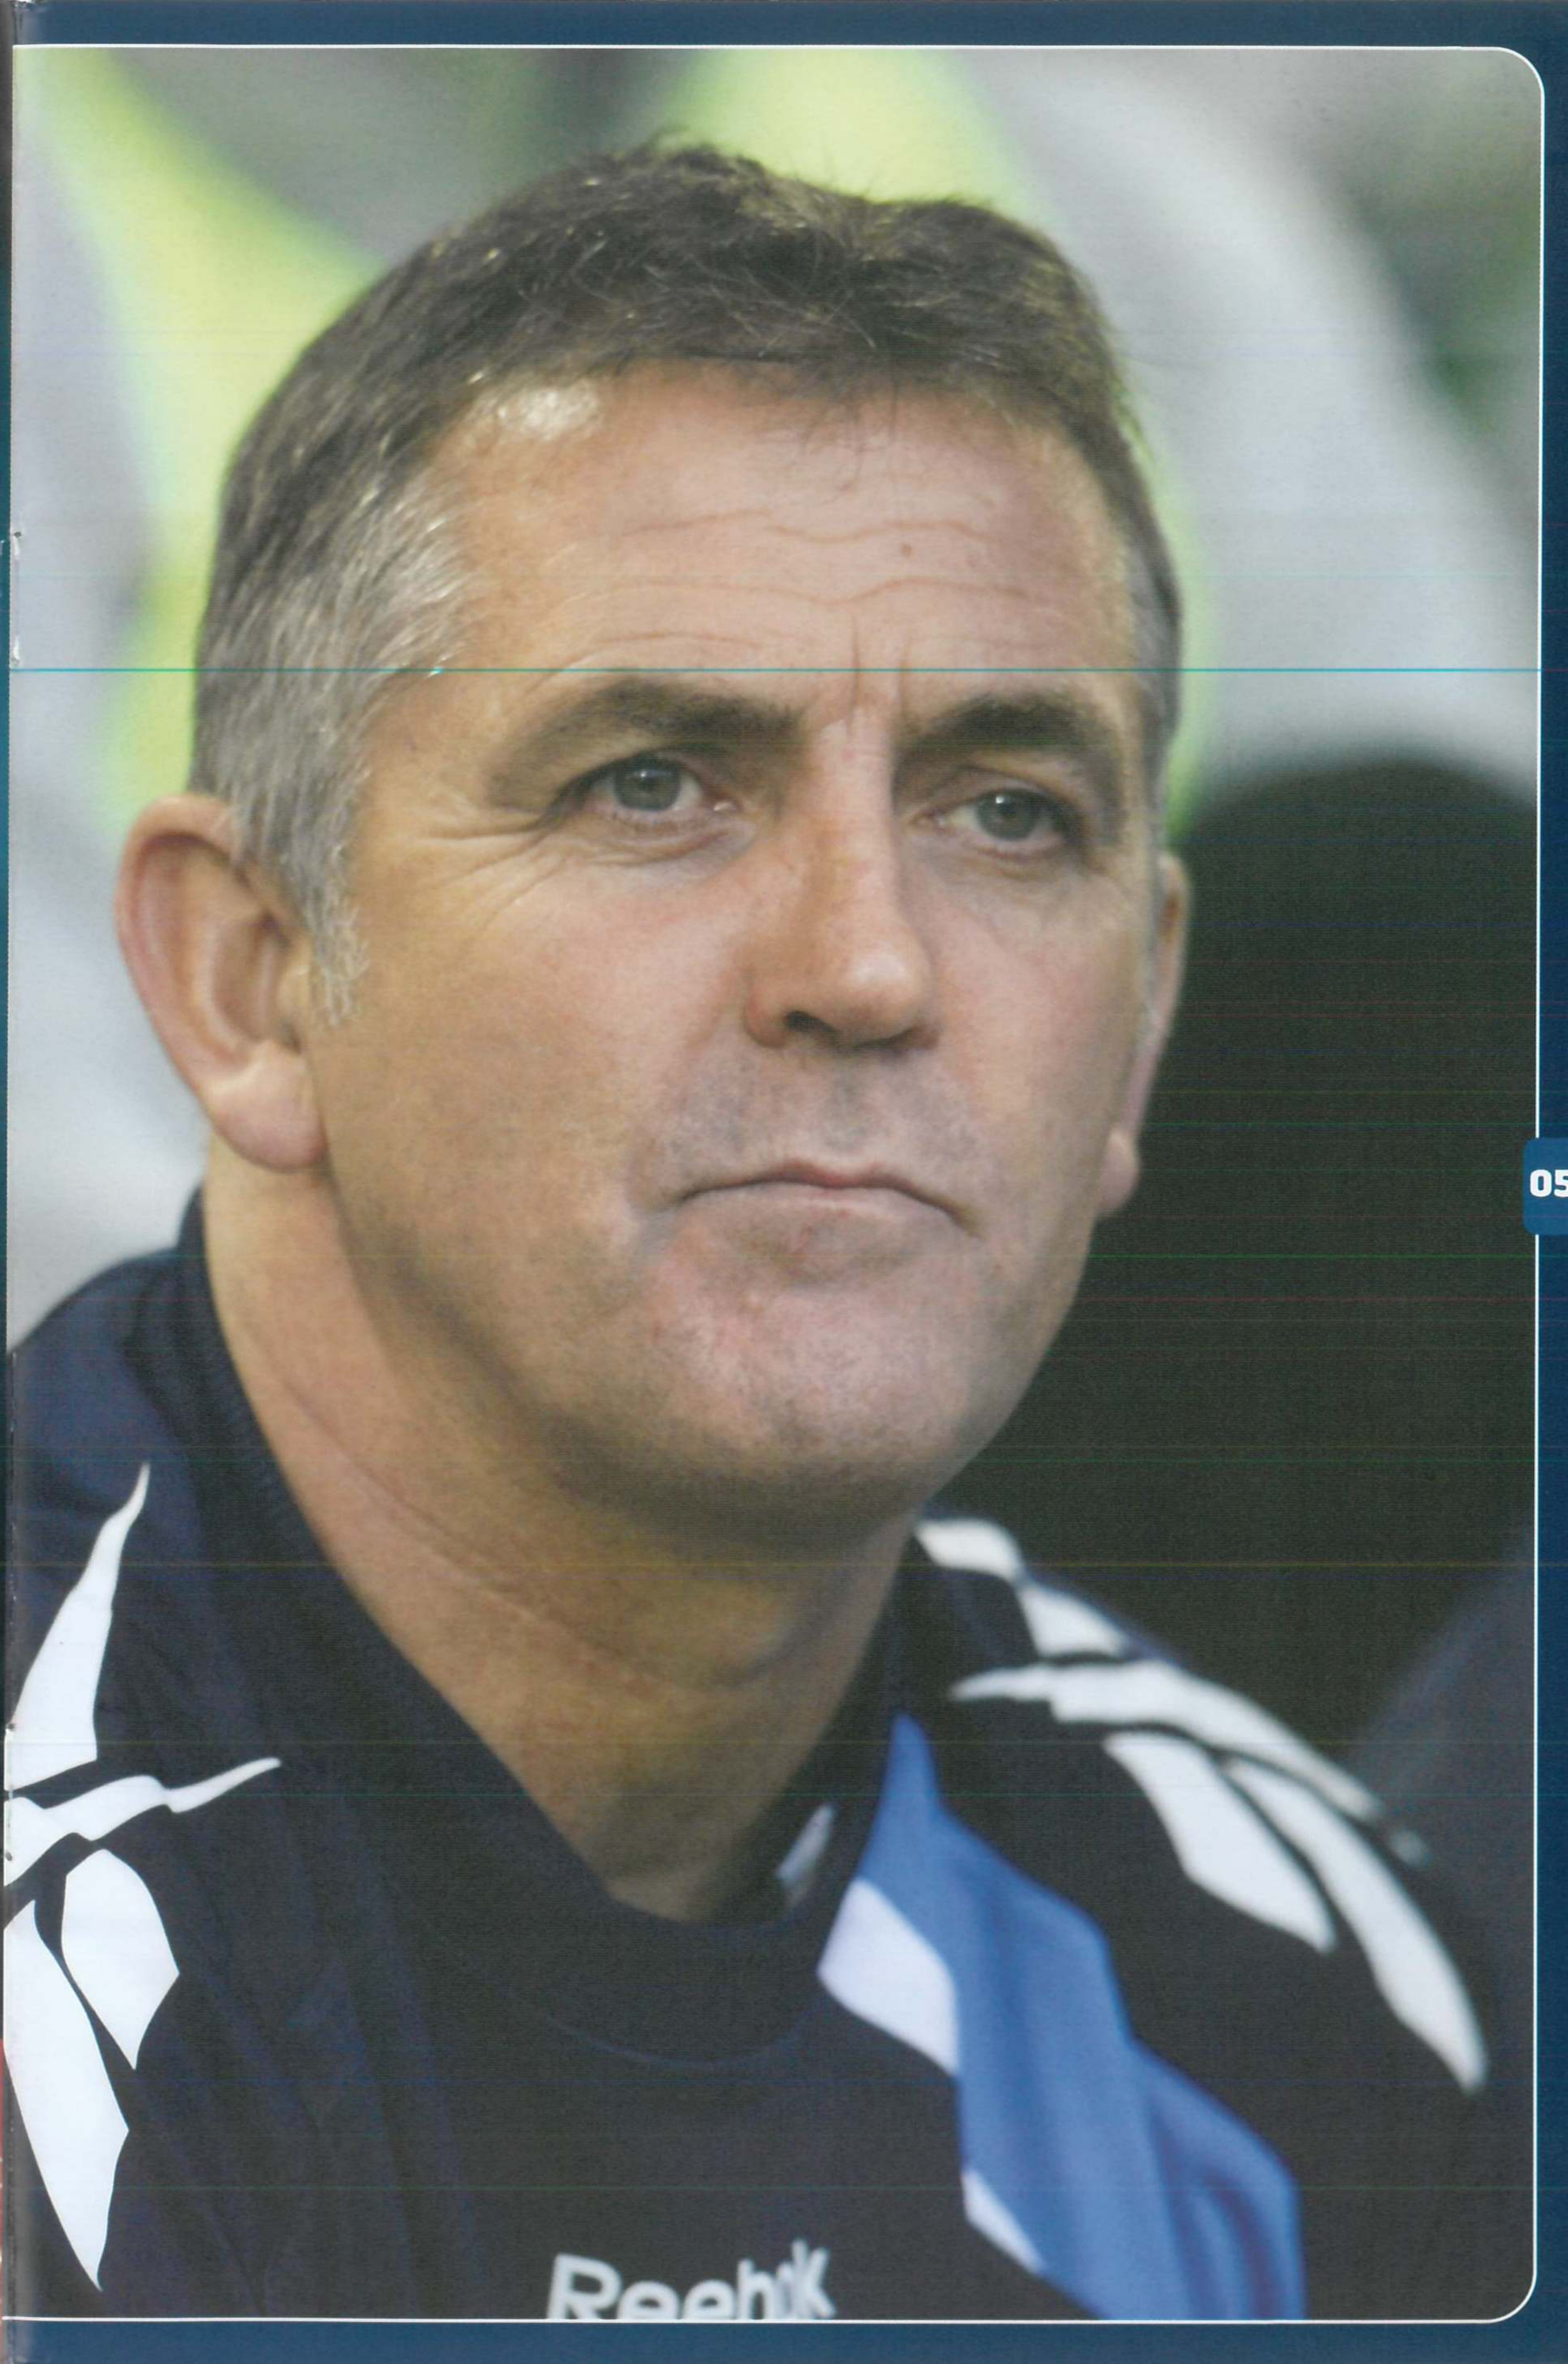

David Moyes has done a sterling job at Goodison Park over the last ten years and his teams are always tough to beat. Their win over Wolves last weekend will have lifted his side, however we showed last time out what we can achieve when we bring everything together at the Reebok.

THE CHAIRMAN

PHIL GARTSIDE

Good afternoon and welcome back to the Reebok for this afternoon's game. I'd also like to greet the directors, staff, players and fans from Everton.

We are back on home soil for our North West derby and we know that today will be a difficult task.

Our win over Stoke in our last home game was thoroughly deserved and it was great to score the five goals which capped-off a memorable afternoon.

We followed this up by playing West Bromwich Albion and the result last weekend showed the fine margins in the Premier League because in the first half it was looking like we would be the team to take all the points.

In recent weeks it has been great to see Joe Riley emerge, as one of our aims is to start seeing more academy youngsters make their way into the first team.

A lot of time and effort has been spent developing the next generation of players and it is pleasing to see that it is starting to bear fruit.

I know a lot of fans got behind Joe and gave him a great reception against Stoke, as they did for the other players, and that was great to see.

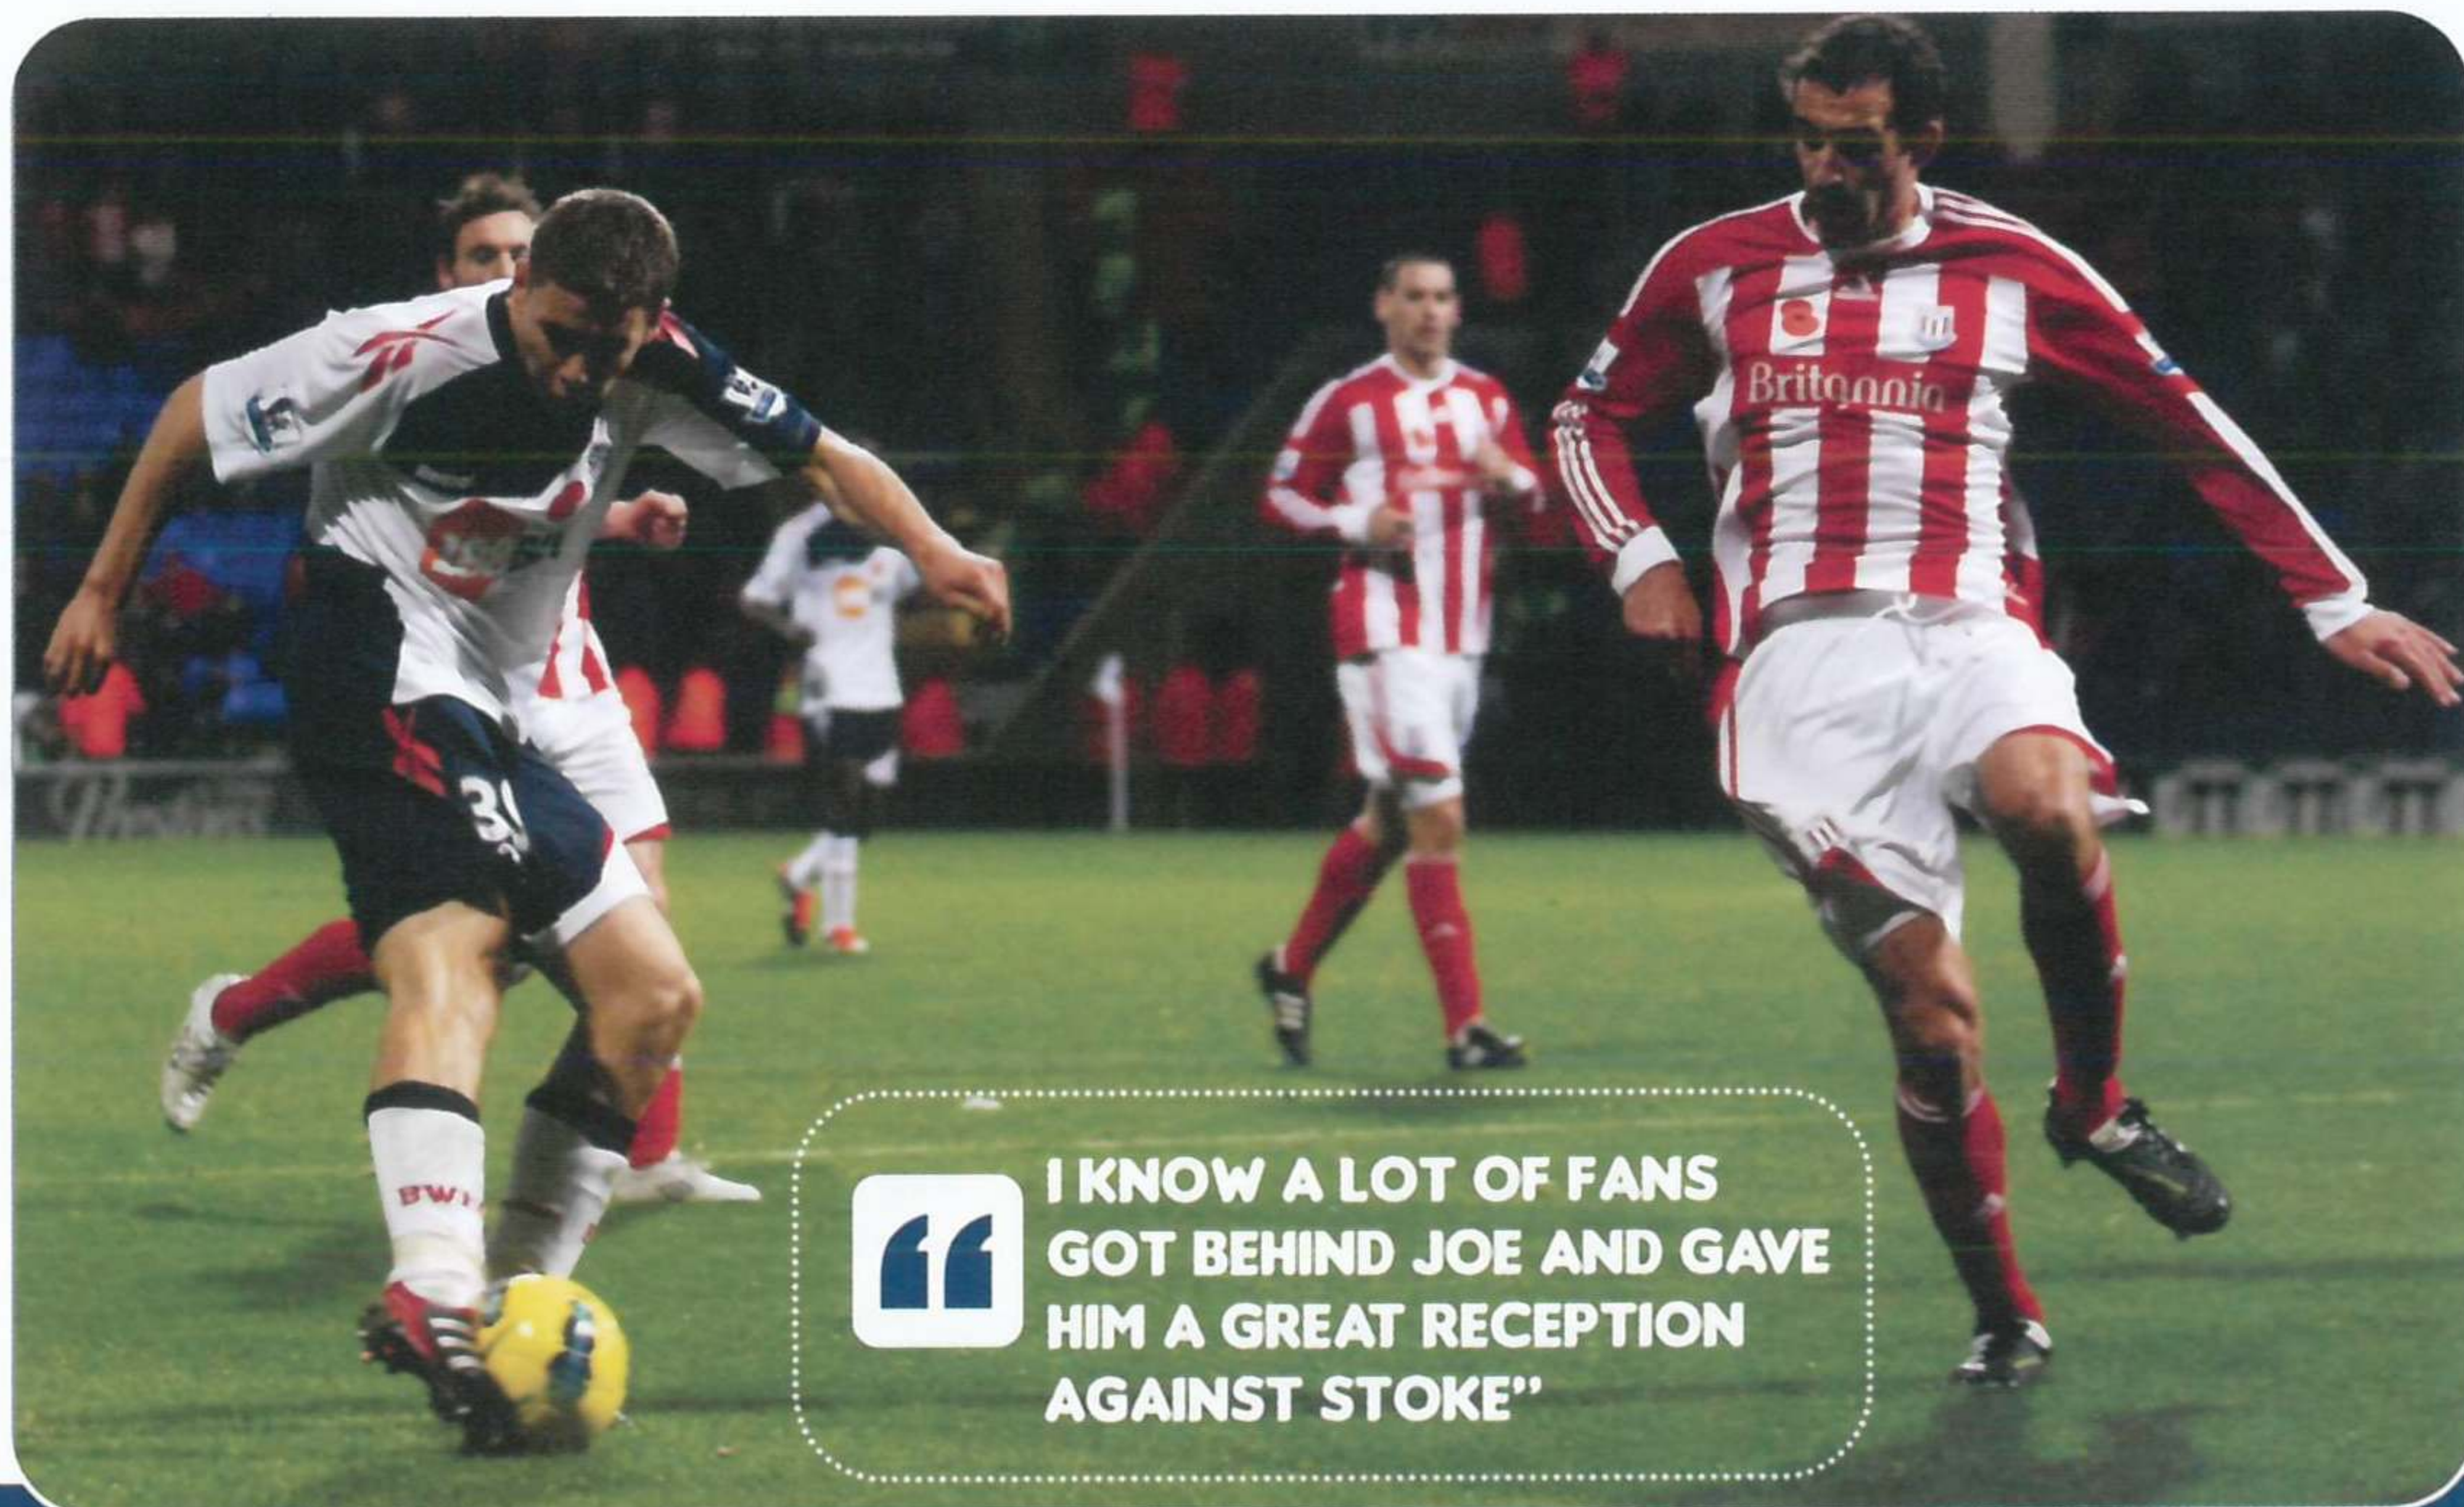

At the Hawthorns last weekend, that backing continued. We had made the decision to put on free travel and the fact that we took 37 coaches for an away Premier League fixture shows that you are getting right behind the team. The result didn't go in our favour but it was good to see so many our fans packed into the away end.

This followed on from the away game at Swansea, where again we had well over a thousand supporters after we had made the decision to put on free coaches.

Today is the final match in November, meaning that the busy Christmas period is just around the corner, so enjoy the game and as ever thanks for your backing.

THE CAPTAIN

KEVIN DAVIES

Welcome back to the Reebok for today's game. First of all, I would like to say thank-you for the support we had last weekend and in our previous home game against Stoke. We are looking for a bit of consistency and form and it's good to see that you are sticking with us.

Away from home, sometimes a point is a good return and perhaps last week would have been a prime example of that. West Brom put us under a lot of pressure in the second half, but we needed to be stronger and see that out. We need to do that a bit more, especially with the experience we have within the squad. If we'd got a draw out of that match, four points from two matches would be a decent tally going into today's game.

We know today will be a difficult match, seeing as Everton come into the game with a win over Wolves under their belts from last week. They seem to have started quite slowly as they tend to do, but they have got a good squad. We have prepared for this game with the win over Stoke City still fresh in the mind and I think it's important today that we are as ruthless as we can be, as we showed three weeks ago. That just showed what we can achieve when we play well and it proves that you need to be at that level consistently if you want to pick up points week in week out in this league.

It is frustrating for everyone that we can't get this run going, but a lot of clubs in the bottom half of the league are the same. No team can seem to get any momentum and that's why we can see a gap of seven points appearing between the teams in seventh and eighth position. We ourselves are only five or so points away from getting into the top half.

Last Sunday I made my debut as a pundit on Match of the Day 2, and it was something different which I enjoyed. The BBC have moved up to Manchester, I was invited into the show and was happy to oblige. It was interesting to see how it all works and how much time goes into producing the show because it's not as simple as it looks.

I watched the Chelsea-Liverpool game in the afternoon and I was asked to do a bit of analysis, so I spoke to the guys at half-time and at full-time and I offered my thoughts on a few things. When I got into the studio later on they put together some clips to go on the show on the points that I made, such as Liverpool pressing Chelsea all over the pitch and Charlie Adam's passing. It was good to be involved in the programme and talk about a few football-related things.

Enjoy the game and hopefully the people on tonight's Match of the Day show can be talking about a Bolton win.

MATCH ACTION

MATCH REPORT

Wanderers produced a five-star display to avenge last season's FA Cup semi-final defeat as they demolished Stoke City at the Reebok Stadium.

Ivan Klasnic and Chris Eagles bagged a brace after Kevin Davies had set the ball rolling with a little over 60 seconds on the clock.

It was a completely one-sided contest with Bolton dominating from the first whistle to last. They were two goals to the good at the interval and then scored three more after the break.

The victory was the club's biggest ever at home in the Premier League, eclipsing the 5-1 win over Newcastle United last season.

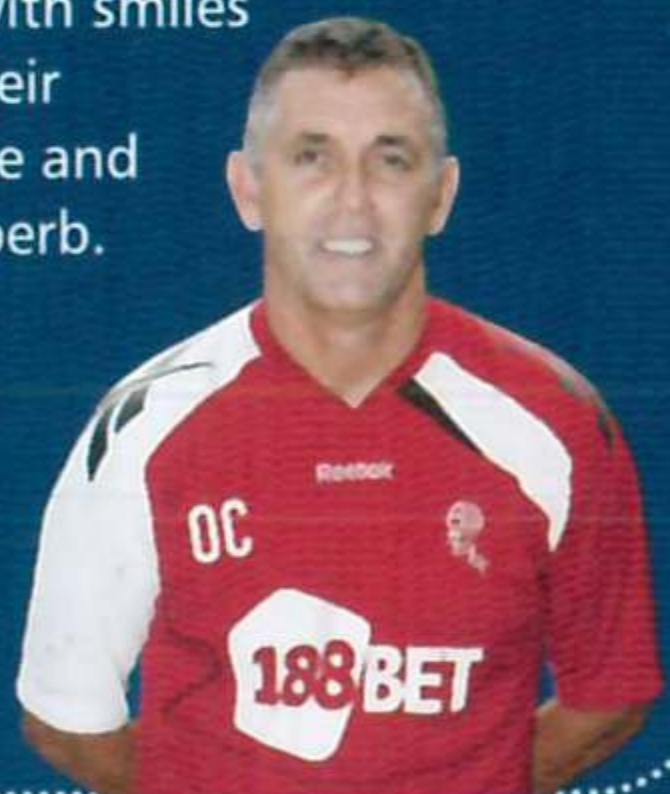

THE GAFFER

"We'd had a good week in training and we brought it all together this afternoon against what was a very good Stoke City side.

"It was a complete performance given how we approached the game. We showed great intensity and quality throughout the course of the afternoon.

"We scored five quality team goals and it was pleasing that we could send our supporters home with smiles on their faces as their backing, both home and away, has been superb. When it all comes together, as it did, there's no doubt that we are a very good side."

MAN OF THE MATCH

OXFAM'S EAST AFRICA APPEAL IN PARTNERSHIP WITH BOLTON WANDERERS

olton Wanderers have teamed up with Oxfam to respond to the current Crisis in East Africa, and the relief fund initiative is supported by the Premier League.

Be Humankind

Oxfam's Response

The East Africa Food Crisis is our largest ever emergency appeal. Across the region, we have successfully scaled up our humanitarian response to reach 2.3 million people, and intend to help more than 3.5 million in the next nine months.

Working with governments, local and international NGOs, communities and the UN, we are providing immediate relief through the provision of essential safe water, improved sanitation facilities, and food items. We are also working to address the longer-standing threats to livelihood's, working to reduce vulnerability and increase the resilience of communities to future drought and shocks. We are lobbying governments and other actors to fulfil their responsibility to act quicker to provide immediate aid as well as long-term support to the region.

- We are currently helping 2.3 million people
- We are providing clean water, sanitation and cash programmes to 1.1 million people in Somalia
- We are reaching 1.1 million people in Kenya, including 100,000 people in Dadaab
- In Ethiopia, we are reaching more than 240,000 people.

If you would like to make your own response to this appeal visit www.oxfam.org.uk and click onto East Africa Appeal for details of how to make a donation.

Throughout all the corporate hospitality areas of the stadium are envelopes provided in order for fans to make a donation to this much needed appeal.

Please give as generously as you can and if at all possible gift aid your donation to add even more value to your contribution.

The Situation

Prolonged drought, poverty and conflict in the Horn of Africa has led to severe food and water shortages, spiralling food prices and the wide-spread loss of livestock across parts of Kenya, Ethiopia and Somalia. The October rains have finally arrived, but with this brings fresh concerns of flooding, difficulties in accessing rural areas and the spread of water-borne diseases within camps.

In September, the United Nations confirmed famine had spread to a sixth area in Somalia, putting a further 750,000 people in the country at risk of starvation in the next four months. Many families do not have enough food or water to survive, and livestock have died due to lack of pasture, leaving pastoralists with no source of income. Increased insecurity within camps in Kenya and Somalia is affecting humanitarian access and response.

Jane Cocking, Oxfam's Humanitarian Director, said: "This is the worst food crisis of the 21st Century and we are seriously concerned that large numbers of lives could soon be lost. People have already lost virtually everything and the crisis is only going to get worse over the coming months – we need funds to help us reach people with life-saving food and water."

WANDERERS HELP BOLTON HOSPICE KICK-START CHRISTMAS IN STYLE!

Bolton Wanderers Football Club is lending their support to Bolton Hospice's annual Santa Dash and Reindeer Run to help kick-start the Christmas Season in style.

The Santa Dash takes place on Sunday 4 December around the Reebok Stadium and is to raise much needed sponsorship for the hospice, helping them to continue providing specialist services for local people facing life limiting illnesses.

Manager Owen Coyle said: "We are delighted to be able to provide the Reebok Stadium as the venue and route of the Santa Dash.

"Wanderers have supported the Hospice for a number of years now and I would like to wish good luck to everyone taking part in raising funds for such a good cause."

The Dash will once again be a fun and festive day out for everyone taking part and Bolton FM are supporting the event by offering on site music and entertainment for all participants.

The local radio station will also be broadcasting live from the dash to involve those who cannot be there and help to spread some Christmas Cheer!

Alice Atkinson, Director of Fundraising at Bolton Hospice, said: "We need to raise over £2million each year to fund Hospice running costs and events such as the Santa Dash are essential in helping us achieve those funds.

"It is through the support of individuals and organisations such as Bolton Wanderers and Bolton FM, that we are able to achieve this and continue the good work."

The Dash is open to all ages and abilities and participants can run, walk or stroll the 3km circular route around the stadium.

This year the Hospice is encouraging people to walk in groups with family, friends and work colleagues and enjoy some of the entertainment on offer including the opportunity to meet Santa in his sleigh, have a go on the tombola and shop for those smaller Christmas gifts and items at the hospice stall.

Why not get involved this year and make it a Dash to remember? Simply register at www.boltonhospice.org.uk/fundraising/events/santa_dash or call 01204 663 055.

Registration is £10 for adults and £5 for children and includes your very own Santa suit or flashing reindeer antlers.

All sponsorship money raised goes directly towards continuing Hospice care.

ONE GAME, ONE COMMUNITY, ONE BOLTON AWARD WINNERS

Saturday 22 October saw representatives from local community groups, who had been awarded the One Game, One Community, One Bolton Award, attend the fixture against Sunderland. All winning groups were offered complimentary tickets to the game and group leaders had their photos taken pitchside with Wanderers midfielder Darren Pratley.

BOLTON WANDERERS LADIES IN ACTION LATER TODAY

The Bolton Wanderers Ladies are encouraging anyone who is interested in either playing or helping with the team to visit Bolton Arena after today's game. Ian Nickson, the ladies team manager, has arranged a friendly game with Scottish Ladies side Hamilton Accies which is scheduled to take place from 6.30pm this evening.

The friendly game has been organised in conjunction with the Bolton Wanderers Community Trust in an attempt to increase female participation in football in the Bolton area.

And speaking about the progress of the Wanderers ladies setup, Nickson told the matchday programme: "All our teams this year continue to progress and develop in their respective leagues, with the first team sitting mid table.

"We're doing well considering all of the other teams in the league have played more games than us. Hopefully we will be able to win a few more games and climb even further up the league and challenge for honours.

"The open age reserve side have also impressed in their first season in the Lancashire County First Division after gaining promotion last season. They are holding their own in what is a very competitive league and currently are sixth in the table again with games in hand.

"We also have a couple of youth sides which include the under-18 and under-16 age groups, so we would encourage anyone interested in joining to come along this evening."

If you are unable to attend tonight's open friendly match or require further information on the Bolton Wanderers Ladies team please contact Ian Nickson on inickson@bwfc.co.uk or 07913 121815.

HOME & AWAY

WITH

PAUL ROBINSON

By Robert Urbani

The first club played for?

It was a local team called S and K United in the Hertfordshire Sunday League.

Team supported as a child?

I was always a Spurs fan. All of my family had supported Tottenham apart from my old man who followed Manchester United – he used to sit in his own room while the rest of us would watch Spurs in front of the television. My uncle used to take me to White Hart Lane because he was a season ticket holder. When I was growing up I would also go and watch Watford quite a bit because they were my local team.

Player looked up to as role model when growing up?

I would say Stuart Pearce and Paolo Maldini (right) because they both played in my position at left-back. I used to study them closely to see what styles they had and how I could learn from them. Being an Englishman, Paul Gascoigne was a legend too – he was a genius on the pitch and had the personality too.

The best goal you have ever scored?

The most memorable one was the diving header at Villa Park when I was at West Brom. It was an important equalising goal and it sent us on our way to preserving our Premier League status in 2005. It was a great day, not just for me but for the team as well.

Make and model of boots?

I'm wearing Puma Kings at the moment. I like them because they are really comfortable and tight on the feet. The leather is great and offers plenty of support, which is hard to get on a lot of boots. I'm not into all the light plastic boots because I don't think they are good for your feet.

Who or what inspired you to play football?

I'd have to say myself. My brother and dad used to play with me in the garden and on the local fields, but I've always been dedicated. I progressed each year and I have always had the drive to become a footballer.

Best ground ever played at?

I always love playing at White Hart Lane (below) because of the atmosphere. I also have great memories of the old Wembley, which was against Bolton in the 1999 Play-Off Final. Wanderers fans won't like me reminding them of that day when Allan Smart and Nicky Wright scored to get us promoted.

Best friends in football?

I would have to say Kevin Phillips and Jonathan Greening from our days at West Brom together.

Plans after finishing playing football?

When I retire I would like to go into the media side of football. I'm also interested in coaching too and I plan to take my badges this upcoming summer, which will be good for me. I just want to stay in the game and possibly look at becoming a coach or manager later down the line.

Toughest opponent ever faced?

There have been quite a few, although David Beckham is the stand-out player. He isn't the quickest of players but his intelligence on-and-off the ball is second to none. He is still a brilliant player now and I try to watch him play for LA Galaxy. His delivery of the ball is first-class and there is no-one better at crossing than him. It would be great to see him finish his career in England over the next few years.

Any pre-match routines?

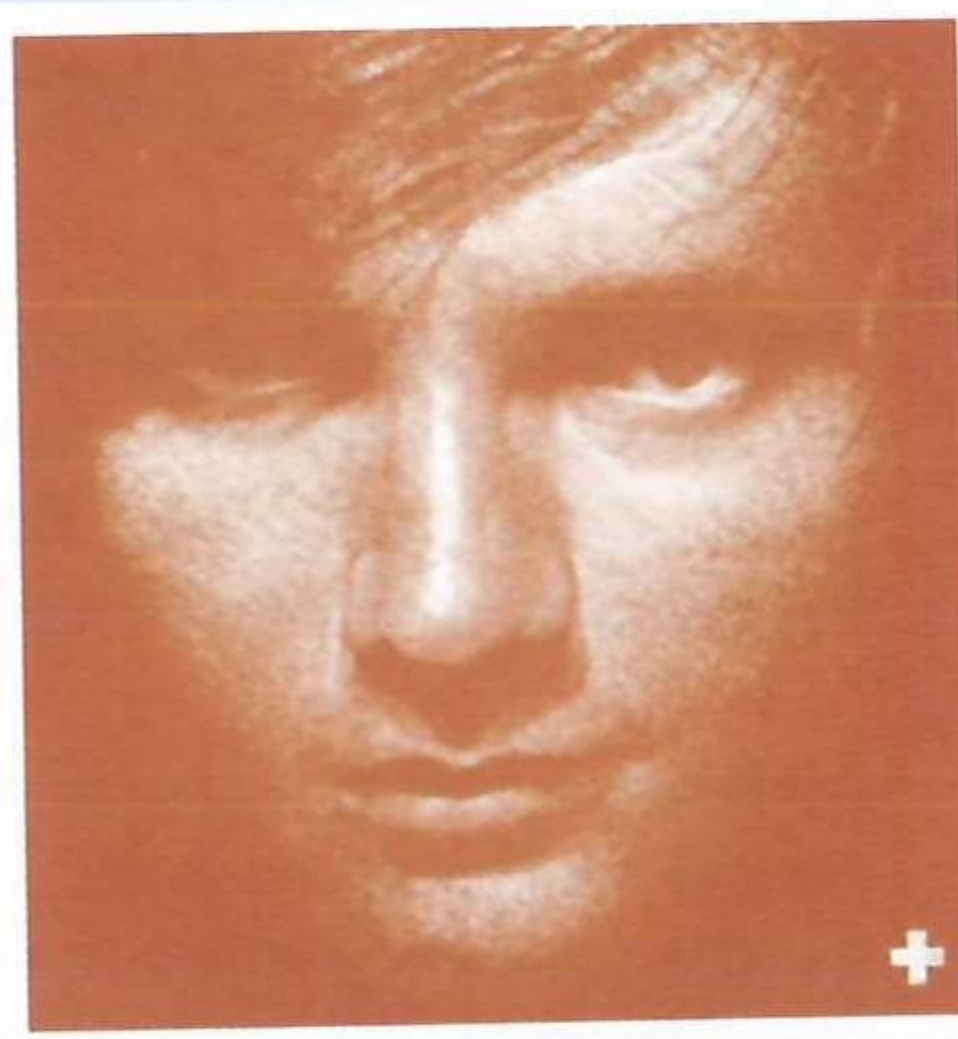

I try to stick to the same habits. My pre-match meal is always spaghetti and chicken. My shinpads have my wife and kids names on, and I always make sure that I put the pads on the same leg every week.

First car?

The first car that I had was a Ford Escort. It was supercharged – a 1.1 litre! I think it lasted me about three weeks before the exhaust fell off because I was revving it that much.

Last music album downloaded?

Ed Sheeran. He is only 19-years-old but is a musical genius and his latest album is class. My favourite music artist of all-time though is Eminem.

Television programmes that you Sky+?

I like to catch-up on a lot of programmes that I've missed. My favourite show is Blue Bloods which is based around cops in New York and stars Tom Selleck and Donnie Wahlberg.

Middle name?

Peter.

Any tattoos?

I've got loads and they are all personal and mean something to me, whether it be of my kids or a few nice designs that I liked. I'm planning on getting a few more soon because I'm getting bored!

Favourite meal?

I'm a big fan of Thai food. There is a nice restaurant near to where I live and we always tend to get a takeaway because the boys like that type of food as well.

Favourite aftershave?

I either wear 1 Million by Paco Rabanne or Gucci.

Best place to spend a Saturday evening?

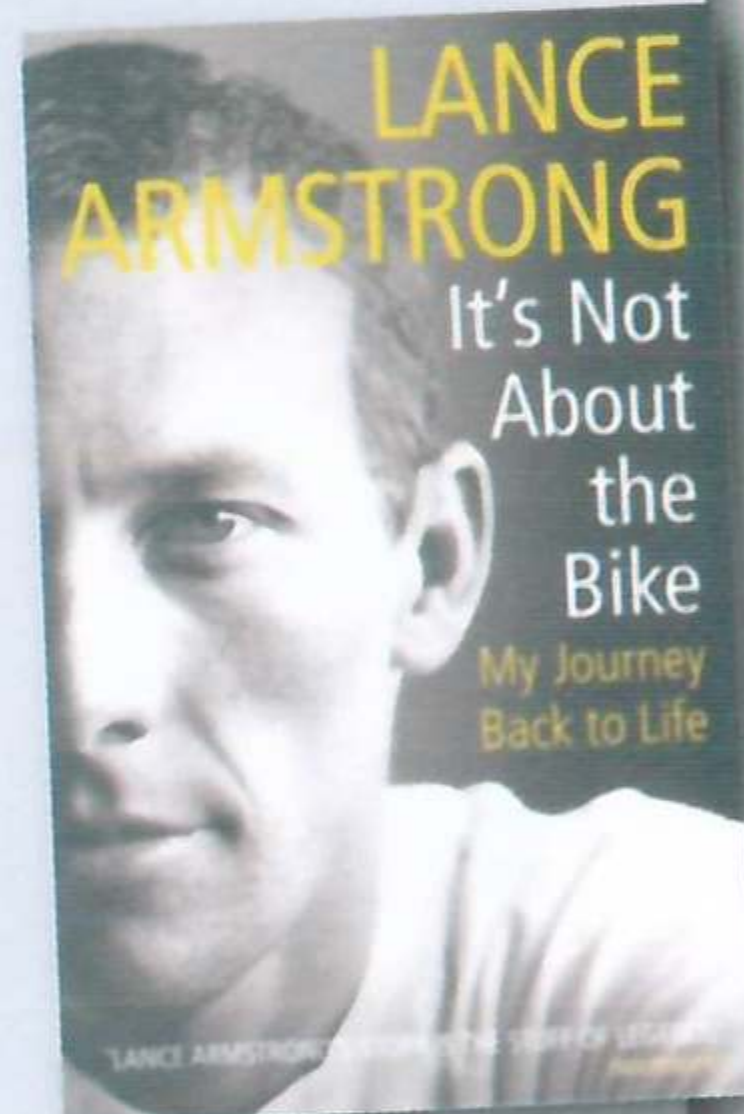

In front of the television watching X Factor after we have earned three points in the afternoon!

Favourite holiday destination?

I love going to Portugal with the kids. It's such a chilled out country and a good place to be together with the family.

Last book you read?

One book I always enjoy reading is Lance Armstrong's autobiography because I find it rewarding to see how he had the courage to fight back from having cancer to still be one of the world's best cyclists. I also read John Hartson's book and there were a few entertaining stories and anecdotes in there.

Do you tend to be an early bird or often run late?

I hate being late so I always make sure that I get in early. If I'm ever late for anything then I get annoyed with myself.

Favourite film of all-time?

My favourite movie is Gladiator. The last one I watched, though, was Pirates of the Caribbean 4.

Good at any other sports?

I'm not bad at golf and I tend to find time for a round whenever I can. I sometimes play when I go on holiday to Portugal because there are some nice courses near to where we stay. I like to play golf with my eldest boy because he is into the sport as well – he sometimes gives me a good hiding!

A FOOT IN BOTH CAMPS – PETER BEARDSLEY

By Will Hucker

This week's subject of 'A Foot In Both Camps' is the brilliant Peter Beardsley who, during a career spanning two decades, donned the blue of Everton between 1991 and 1993 and the white of Bolton Wanderers for one season in 1997/98.

It's not often that a player represents both Manchester United and Manchester City as well as starring for Liverpool and Everton.

Beardsley during his days with Everton

But that is something that Peter Beardsley can point to on his CV. In a much travelled career that included stints in Canada and Carlisle, he amassed over 600 league appearances, with cup run outs taking his overall career tally beyond the 700 mark.

He is also one of the few players to move directly between Liverpool and Everton. But the move across Stanley Park didn't faze him, as he told the matchday programme.

He said: "In a funny sort of way it was very exciting because not many people have done that and the move worked well because at that stage in my life I didn't want to leave Merseyside. My son was two-years-old and we were settled because the people on Merseyside, red or blue, were so good to me."

When asked what his most memorable moment was whilst at Goodison, Beardsley didn't take long to answer.

He said: "Scoring the winner in the Merseyside derby for Everton against Liverpool. We went behind to a goal by Mark Wright but came straight back at them and Mo Johnston got the equaliser. Then with about five minutes to go me and Gary Ablett played a one-two and I managed to just stick it in the corner.

"As much as I love the Reds, when you look at players today they don't celebrate when they score against their old clubs but my word I celebrated, I couldn't believe my luck! To score in a derby against an old team was unbelievable."

Although the members of the great Everton side of the mid-eighties had moved on, there were still plenty of players that Beardsley enjoyed playing alongside.

"Neville Southall in goal was first class," recalled the 50-year-old. "What a keeper. Then you had the likes of Kevin Ratcliffe and Dave Watson, one of the best skippers I've ever seen.

"Without wanting to sound cheeky, Howard Kendall said to me that I was one of two players at the time that could have been sold to raise money. The other one was Dave Watson and Howard said that he couldn't sell his captain so I ended up going back to Newcastle, but I totally understood that and I can honestly say I really loved my time at Everton."

After completing his second spell on Tyneside, Beardsley arrived at the Reebok after the promotion to the Premier League in 1997 and he remembers the impact that Colin Todd and Phil Brown had on him during his time at Bolton.

He said: "The work Colin put in to bring me to the club was sensational. He worked so hard to bring me here and even though I was 36 at the time he made me feel like a million dollars.

"As far as coaches go, Phil is as good as they get. He really was superb. When I was at Liverpool for example, the training was obviously good but it was more a case of getting a team of top players together, giving them a ball and telling them to go and play their game.

"He was very popular with everyone, obviously having played there himself and his enthusiasm was first class. But that enthusiasm was right across the board, everyone was brilliant to me, Nathan Blake, John McGinlay, Michael Johansen, everyone.

"It was disappointing that we didn't do as well as we'd have liked and that we couldn't stay up, but I still have really fond memories of my time at Bolton and when the team went back up with Sam in 2000, I was so happy for them."

Beardsley is now back at Newcastle again, this time in a coaching capacity. Under his role as Football Development Manager, he sees the stars of tomorrow and nurtures the talent coming through the doors of Sports Direct Arena, from the academy right the way through to the reserves.

He explained: "Willie Donachie runs the reserves and I assist him. It's great because there will be players in the reserves who I've known through the academy so it's like one big family. I'm working alongside Dave Watson again so to have people around like that is brilliant.

"I love coaching and it's something I knew I would always want to go into. I hope, in my role that I can give some of these young kids the life that I've had, because football has given me a fantastic life."

EVEN THOUGH I WAS 36 AT THE TIME HE MADE ME FEEL LIKE A MILLION DOLLARS.

THE PLAYER

JOE RILEY

By Robert Urbani

Over the last 20 years, hundreds upon hundreds of players have graced the Premier League, but Joe Riley can count himself in an elite bracket, probably one of his own. How many footballers can say that their league debut came in a 5-0 victory? Very few, if any.

The young full-back's first taste of action in England's top division was literally a dream come true. It was at the Reebok Stadium – a venue he and his family have frequently visited ever since it was built - he helped the team keep a clean sheet and, most importantly, Wanderers beat Stoke in convincing fashion. In addition, there was also a departure to a standing ovation and chants from the terraces of 'there's only one Joe Riley'.

"It took me a few days to get my head around the fact that I had played in the Premier League. The whole day and the occasion was something special, particularly with the way that the result went. I think it was the best day of my life," recalled the 20-year-old when he sat down with the official matchday programme earlier in the week.

Riley's emergence in the first-team in recent weeks has been tinged with the frustrating news that he is set to spend a short period of time on the sidelines with a hamstring strain, but that still hasn't taken too much of the gloss off what has been his breakthrough season.

He said: "When I came back for pre-season I just wanted to try and play as many reserve games as I could. I wanted to be able to train with the first team and try and get involved, but I didn't really think it would happen as quickly as it did.

"Depending on how things went, I was thinking that if I could play well in the reserves then I might have gone out on loan at some point because that is how a lot of young lads get experience. I didn't dream that things would go like they have and I'm grateful to have been given a chance.

"Before the Macclesfield game the manager told me that I would be playing and I was a bit nervous, but once I got on the pitch and made my first pass then all the nerves went out of the window. I was focused on trying to play well and trying to impress.

"After that I trained with the first team more often, for almost the last two months. The manager called me into his office before the Stoke game and told me I was playing. He just said to perform how I know I can and do nothing different from what I had been doing in training. It was great that he had the belief in me.

Zat Knight congratulates Riley after his Premier League debut against Stoke City

"I didn't really feel under any pressure because I'd had that first experience of playing in the first team before. We wanted to get the win and it was pleasing that we did it in style.

"I just want to continue with how I have been doing. This hamstring injury has knocked me back, but I will come back stronger."

As the new kid on the block, Riley admits that he has been able to settle into the first team frame with the help and support of the senior players in the squad.

He added: "Gary Cahill's a great player and obviously an England international. To play with people like him, train with him day in day out and get a bit of experience is terrific. When you see how professional all the players are here then it rubs off.

"I get on with all of the players - they have been brilliant with me and there isn't one of the lads who I can't have a chat with. They have all been telling me to play the way that I have been brought up. The captain and people like Nigel (Reo-Coker) have been giving me tips. It's good that all the players want me to improve."

"The support that I have had from the fans has been brilliant too. A few fans have stopped me and asked for my autograph, which is great."

Indeed, Riley's emergence has given particular satisfaction to the Bolton supporters as he is one of their own, a youngster who grew up following the Whites and is from the region. For the right-back, his connections with the club started almost 15 years ago, and along the way he has earned several awards, including Under-16s Player of the Year for the 2007/08 season.

Collecting the Under-16s Player of the Year Award from ex-Wanderer Ricardo Vaz Té

He explained: "I got spotted when I was six years old and I came for my first trial when I was seven. I trained for two years with Peter Almond, who used to work in the Academy, and then I signed for the Bolton Wanderers junior teams at the Under-9s age."

"There were a few other clubs who seemed interested in me but Bolton was the right team to join. All of my family wanted me to go there because they are from the area and supported Wanderers too."

"I owe a lot to the people I have worked with in the academy, such as Jimmy Phillips who has helped me a lot, and also John Henry who helped me over the last two years. I've been working hard ever since I joined the club as a kid to get where I am, but I know there is a long way to go. I've got to keep my feet on the ground and I've got the right people around me to do that."

THE SUPPORT THAT I HAVE HAD FROM THE FANS HAS BEEN BRILLIANT"

THE PLAYER

ADAM BOGDAN

By Robert Urbani

While Gary Cahill has hit the headlines over the last 12 months for his emergence with the England national team, quietly, Wanderers have also had another star on their books that has made great strides on the international scene.

Adam Bogdan, the club's 24-year-old goalkeeper, has broken through with Hungary, and he reported back to Euxton last week with two more caps to his name after featuring in the friendlies against Lichtenstein and Poland during the most recent international break.

Indeed, the last 12 months represents a rapid rise up the pecking order for Bogdan, who has been pushing for a place between the posts with experienced Premier League shot-stoppers Gabor Kiraly and Marton Fulop.

And with four senior international appearances now to his name, Bogdan has been content with the progress he has made.

He said: "After the Chelsea game I was a bit down but I played against Arsenal in the Carling Cup a few weeks later. The game didn't go too well from a team perspective because we lost, although I was confident when I went away with Hungary because I felt that I played well at the Emirates Stadium.

"I was given the chance to play in both of the friendly matches. For the first game against Liechtenstein we won 5-0 and that made it three consecutive games that I didn't concede a goal. I had two one-on-one saves to make, so I was pleased with how everything went.

"The second game against Poland was harder and we lost 2-1. I had more to do in that match and I thought we should have defended better. I was a bit unlucky for both goals because the first was a rebound after I had made a good save – it was a shot from the edge of the area that came through a lot of bodies and I felt that I did well to see it at the last minute and make the save. The second was an own goal and I didn't have much of a chance.

"The national sport newspaper rated me as Man of the Match for the Poland game. I don't read newspapers too much but I was pleased for them to write that.

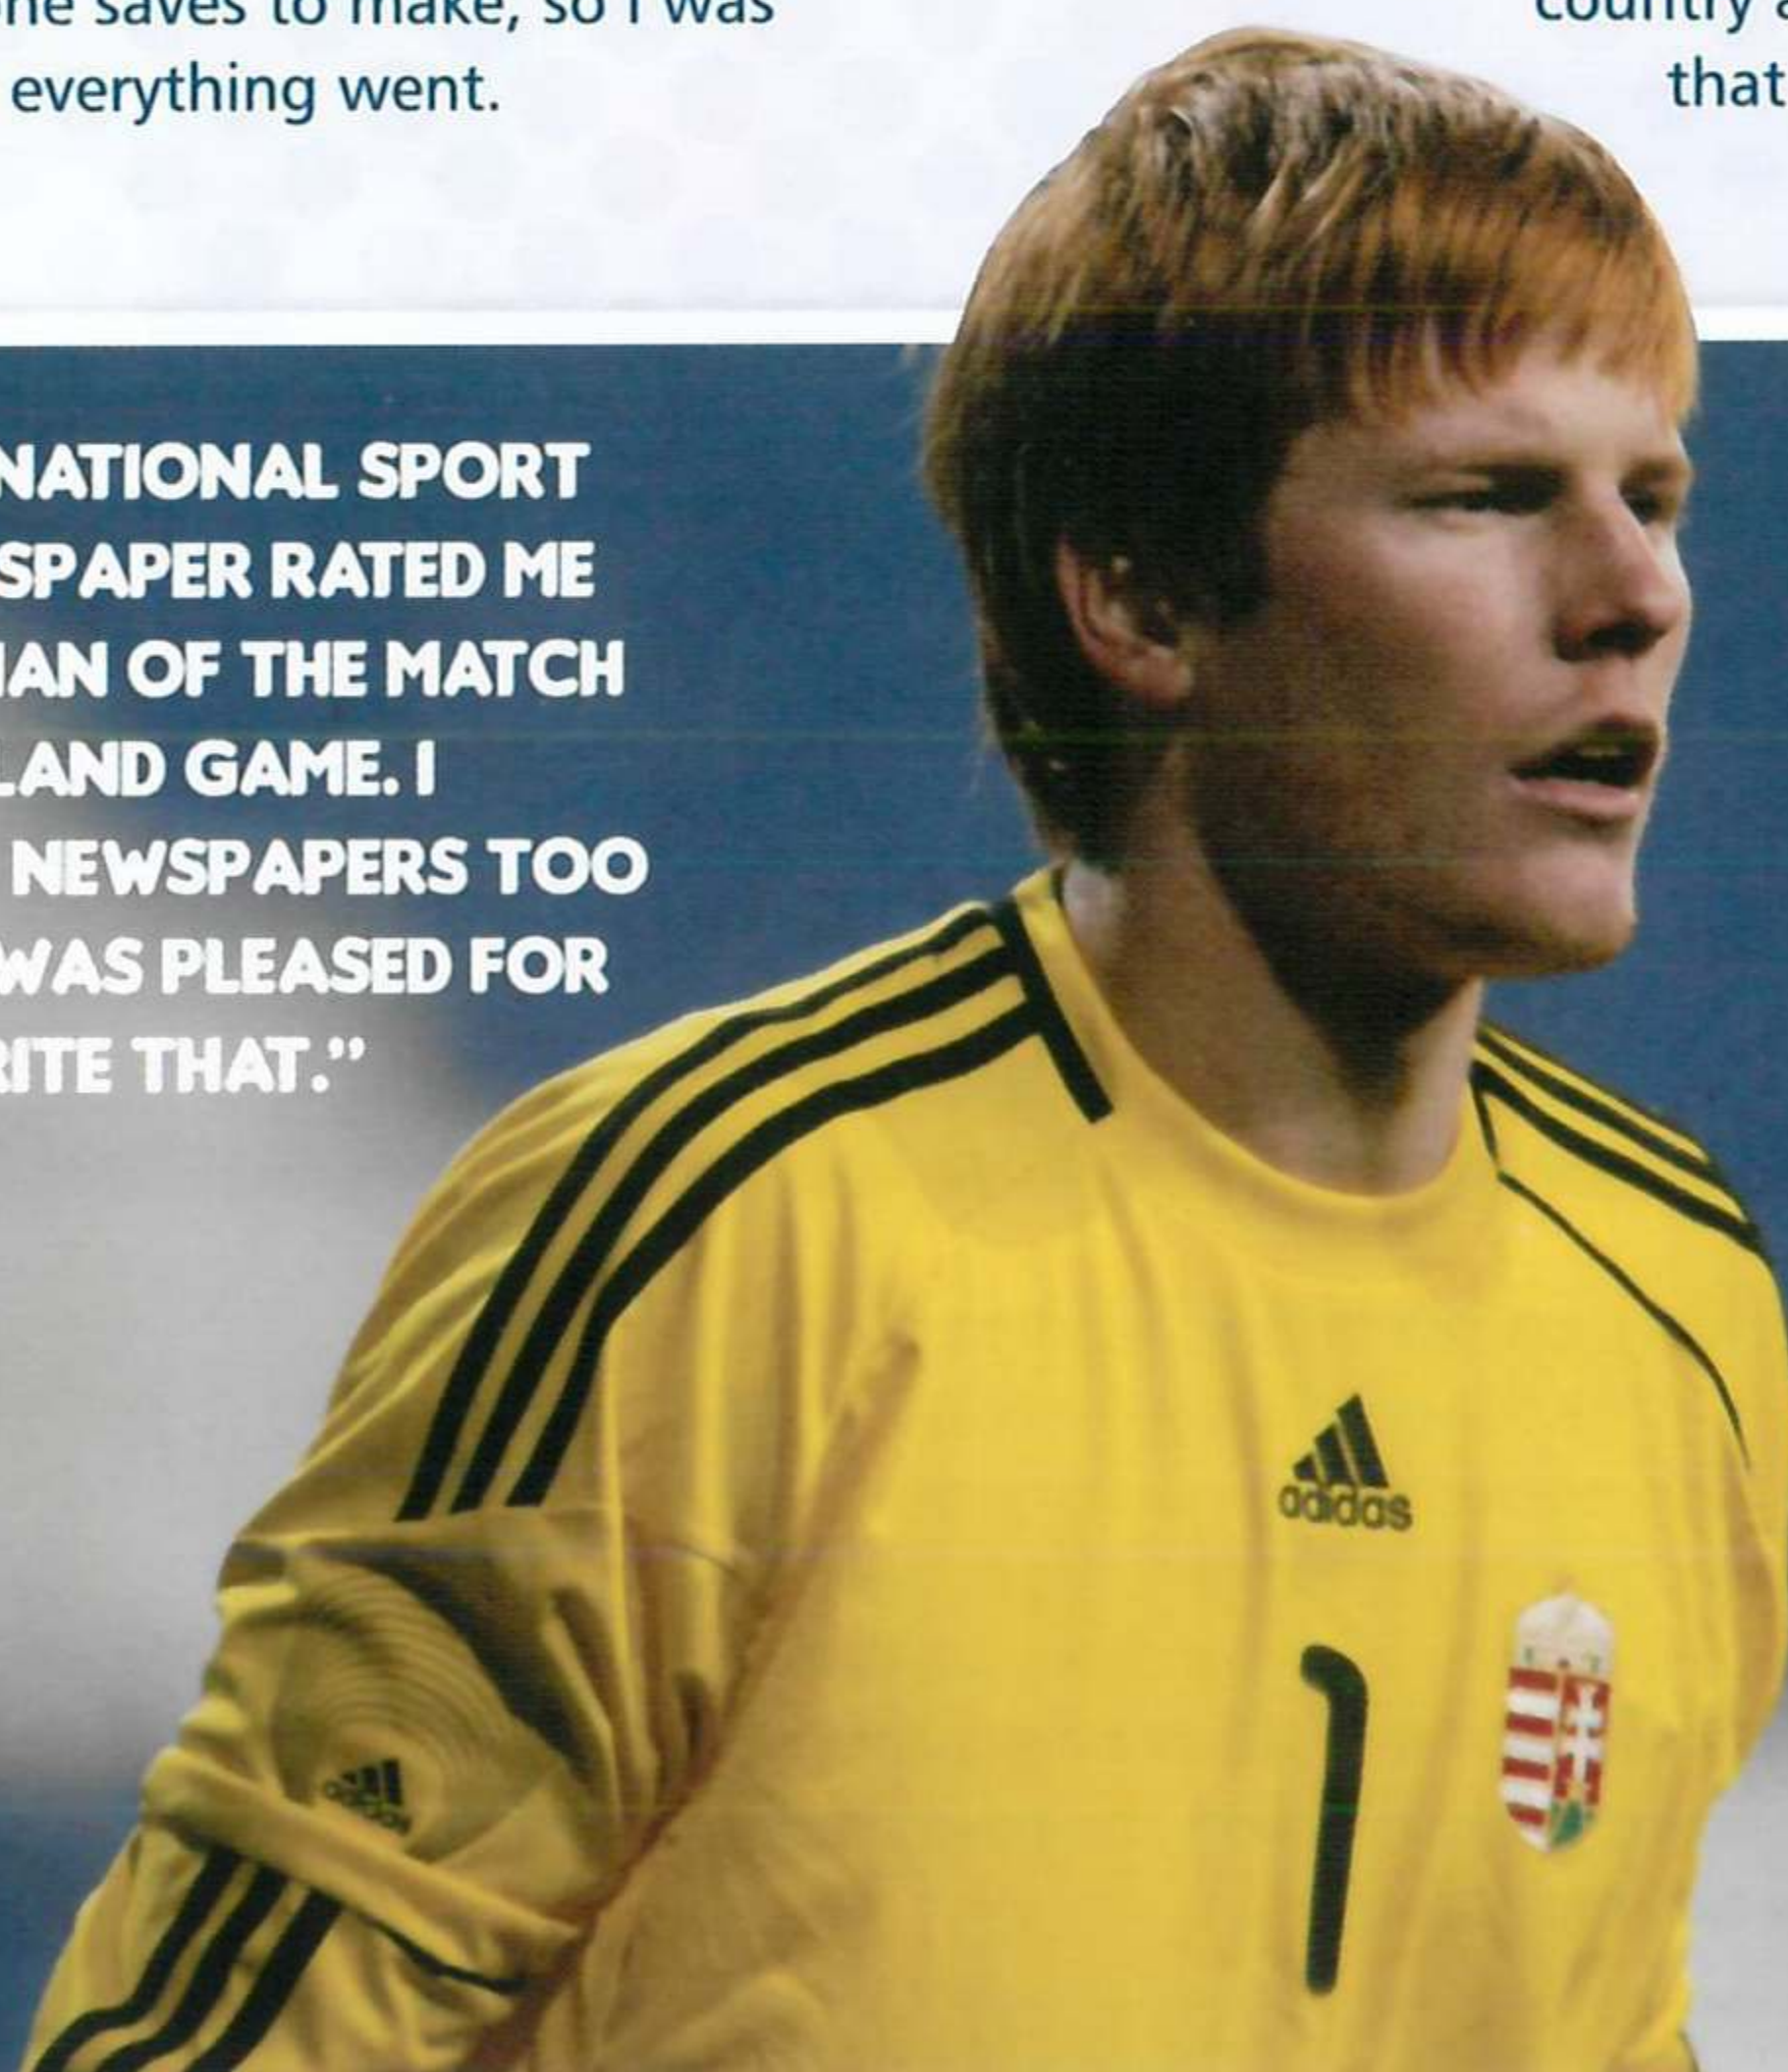

"Also, in both games I had Gabor Kiraly behind me as a substitute, and he came on to replace me for the first game. He has 85 caps so it was a great feeling to know that someone who has played for so long was coming on for me and I wasn't replacing him. That was something really special and I hope that I can maintain that position.

"I'm in a good position with the national team but there are two other good young goalkeepers as well. One of them is Peter Gulacsi who plays for Liverpool and is on loan at Hull, and the other is Balázs Megyeri of Olympiacos in Greece, so there are other players pushing for the place in the team.

"When I go home, more and more people are starting to recognise me - sometimes it's good and sometimes it's not so good! Overall, though, it is a very good feeling to be picked for my country and I just want to keep that going."

TOOLS OF THE TRADE

Phil Gittins
Club commentator

This week's subject of 'Tools of the Trade' is the club commentator Phil Gittins, who travels the length of breadth of the country, covering every single Bolton Wanderers match.

The broadcasts are transmitted via the club's official website, www.bwfc.co.uk, as part of the Wanderers Player matchday coverage.

Here, Phil offers an insight into the equipment he uses on a matchday.

STOPWATCH

A vital commodity for all commentators is the stop-watch which enables them to provide the listener with the all-important time checks throughout the game. It's particularly vital as full-time approaches and a tense finish is in sight!

NOTES

In order to enhance the quality of any commentary, it is important that the commentator is fully prepared with facts and statistics that inform the listener.

Prior to a game I research previous meetings between the sides involved, making particular reference to any trends that may be apparent in encounters between the sides in question. Recent form is another useful indicator that can be raised during a commentary and particularly during the pre-match build up.

To improve a listener's awareness, particularly in respect of the opposition team, I also prepare a 'post it' note for each player which contains useful facts such as the clubs they have played for previously, international records, transfer fees that have been paid for the player, along with career and current season statistics. The idea for the post it note is that the formation of a side can be formed on a sheet of paper and then when a player is replaced following substitution the new player can be slotted onto the page in the relevant position.

LAPTOP

A feature of any matchday programme is that the broadcast team request feedback from the listeners via the e-mail address matchday@bwfc.co.uk or via the twitter account @officialbwfc. Laptops allow the Bolton Wanderers media team to view the correspondence received during the game which is relayed to the listener where possible.

The laptop also means that I can keep upto date with all the latest scores from games up and down the country.

It never ceases to amaze just how far the Wanderers Player word has spread - from Bolton to the Bahamas there are Trotters fans all over the globe!

GLOVES

As winter rapidly approaches, these accessories become more and more important, particularly at stadiums where the press box is located at the back of a stand or on a gantry where you are open to the elements!

HEADPHONES/ MICROPHONES

Gone are the days of the 'Motty style mic' held fastidiously to the top of the lip during a matchday broadcast. The modern headphone, used by most commentators these days, are fitted with mouthpieces designed with the comfort of the user in mind, freeing up the arms to enable the reporter to produce those vital notes that can be interjected into the commentary to inform the listener throughout the 90 minutes.

NOTE PAD

To improve the level of information provided throughout a commentary, it is important to have a note book and pen on hand to jot down details that can be referred to as and when appropriate.

Facts such as goal times and the times at which specific incidents occurred are of interest to the listener and also assist greatly at the end of each half when a summary of the play is required.

ISDN KIT

(GLENSOUND ELECTRONICS LTD GSGC25)

This piece of equipment is the mechanism by which all the commentaries are broadcast via the club's website. All matchday broadcasts are transmitted using this equipment which enables digital quality sound when the ISDN box is connected to the nominated point situated in the press boxes at the various grounds we visit throughout the country. The ISDN box is the conduit for all the headphones and microphones used by the matchday commentary team to bring you all the thrills and spills of a Wanderers fixture.

This facility is also used on occasions to transmit recorded interviews and commentary clips that augment the matchday show.

SUPPORTERS' STORIES

STUART THOMAS

By Andy Neild

For the first time in years Bolton fan Stuart Thomas no longer has to worry about missing a kick at Wanderers' home games.

The 39-year-old has been a regular at the Reebok – and before that Burnden Park – for more than two decades.

However, for most of that period Stuart's normal matchday routine bore little resemblance to that of your archetypal Wanderers fan.

Prior to this season, Stuart spent 18 years operating the turnstiles at Burnden Park, and more recently the Reebok.

As a result, he has missed his fair share of goals and talking points down the years – but that hasn't diluted his love for Wanderers.

Stuart, who works as an Implementation Manager for Co-op bank, said: "When I left school at 16 one of my friends got offered a job on the turnstiles but I couldn't do it as I already worked Saturdays.

"However, I later got a job with the Co-op, which freed me up at weekends, so I began working on the car parks initially, before moving onto the turnstiles at Burnden.

"I really enjoyed it to be honest. Most of the turnstiles were in blocks of four so they worked it on a rota basis. One week in four you had to work up to half-time, but the rest of the time you'd get to finish at either five past, ten past or quarter past three.

"We all got seats in one of the upper tiers so not only did you get to watch the game for free, you also got paid for the privilege!

"I did it for 18 years and only packed in at the end of last season because my son had started watching matches and I wanted to go to the games with him."

Now Stuart and his eight-year-old son, who coincidentally just happens to be called Owen, enjoy a bird's eye view of all Wanderers' home games from their seats in the East Stand upper tier.

"It's great being able to go to the matches with Owen," said Stuart, who rates the 1996/97 season, when Wanderers amassed 98 points and 100 goals en route to promotion, as his personal highlight.

"When I was working on the turnstiles, I used to get to the ground for 12.30 to start work.

"Now we can take our time, soak up the pre-match atmosphere, maybe pop into the club shop, and watch the players warm up. That's a new experience for me because I wasn't able to do that before."

1996/97 WAS A MEMORABLE SEASON FOR BOLTON WANDERERS

THE FOOTBALL TALKING POINT

Q: IS THIS THE MOST WIDE OPEN SEASON IN PREMIER LEAGUE HISTORY?

THE JOURNALIST

Not in my eyes because there is only one winner - and that is Manchester City. At best it is a two horse race with United challenging their noisy neighbours. It's been quite a while since three clubs all looked capable of winning the title.

The last time was when Chelsea and Arsenal were fighting it out with United. Neither of those clubs are good enough to win the league now. Money talks and no-one can keep up with City's huge investment in their team. It's a pity, because the Premier League is now becoming more like La Liga and, I hate to say it, the Scottish Premier League.

There is so little competition and the situation is not going to get any better, despite Michel Platini's plans to restrict spending. All that is going to do is stop teams forking out the cash needed to compete at the top of the table.

JEREMY BUTLER, FREELANCE SPORTS JOURNALIST

THE PUNDIT

As far as the title race is concerned, bookmakers will be paying out on Manchester City by mid-April. Roberto Mancini has an immense squad and as long as he doesn't over-rotate, City will be over the hills and far away.

It's going to be the same four teams - Chelsea, Arsenal, Liverpool and Spurs - going for the remaining Champions League places. Newcastle, although well organised under Alan Pardew, have a paper-thin squad and once Demba Ba hits the rails, they will drop into mid-table mediocrity.

I can see the battle to avoid relegation going down to the final day of the season again, and predict Blackburn and Wolves won't be so lucky this time, and they'll join Wigan in the Championship.

PAUL PLUNKETT, ASSISTANT SPORTS EDITOR, BBC SPORT WEBSITE

THE FAN

I think in recent times this probably is the most wide open season we've seen in the Premier League. At the moment any one of the top five or six clubs could go on a run and win the title.

After them, the rest of the clubs below them could all still get sucked into a relegation battle. Currently the three promoted clubs are all doing well which is putting pressure on the clubs below them. Of course everything could change over the next two months.

Manchester City could run away with the title and I expect the newly-promoted clubs to start slipping down the table once we get into the second half of the season. But right now the league looks wide open.

DAVID ROBERTS, BOLTON FAN

BOLTON WANDERERS AND:

BY MARK HEYS

Those who came to the Reebok Stadium just under three weeks ago for the game against Stoke City will have been witness to a very fulfilling victory which seemed to come together almost from the off.

Quick thinking by the recalled Ivan Klasnic and Kevin Davies fooled goalkeeper Asmir Begovic after referee Howard Webb had awarded an indirect free-kick from Glenn Whelan's pass back, and it got worse for Begovic as Chris Eagles showed great accuracy to drive the Bosnia international's miss-hit clearance into the net for the second.

At the time the Wanderers fans sang with a bit tongue in cheek that they wanted five to avenge the FA Cup semi-final defeat at the hands of the Potters back in April and sure enough the side delivered with three second-half goals which put to bed the nightmare of what happened at Wembley.

What a way to record your first home league victory of the campaign and for those players who suffered the disappointment in North London it buried more than a few ghosts. For the manager Owen Coyle it would have been a welcome three points regardless of the opposition and the Bolton chief will be looking for more of the same level of performance as he goes in search of a second successive Wanderers home win against the Toffees.

Since the Reebok Stadium opened 14 years ago the Wanderers have hit five in front of their own fans on five separate occasions, two instances of which have occurred over the last 12 months during Owen Coyle's time in charge.

Darlington, Scunthorpe United, Aston Villa, Newcastle United and latterly Stoke are the teams who have been on the wrong end of heavy scorelines when visiting South Lancashire, and the Villa game in particular from January 2004 is one that sits fondly with people from Bolton.

That night was memorable large in part to two Jay-Jay Okocha free-kicks, one in each half, and the fact that Bolton were three goals to the good within the first quarter of an hour. Kevin Nolan, an acrobatic effort from Stelios Giannakopoulos and a header from centre half Bruno N'Gotty had Wanderers within touching Month award and Johan Elmander receiving the Player of the Month award.

Elmander was twice on target against the Magpies, firstly rounding goalkeeper Tim Krul and then getting the better of his marker Fabricio Coloccini who was later issued with a red card after striking the Swedish forward.

Skipper Kevin Davies also earned himself a couple of goals at the start and climax of the game, both from the penalty spot. Just a couple of minutes into the game Newcastle midfielder Kevin Nolan, on his first return to the distance of a place in the Carling Cup final at Cardiff, but before then the second leg at Villa Park still had to take place and a brace from Juan Pablo Angel in the first leg meant that some finishing off still had to be done in the Midlands.

The Newcastle game just one year and one week ago came when Wanderers had arguably their best month of last season and it culminated in honours for two of the club staff with Owen Coyle getting the Manager of the Reebok since leaving the club in January 2009, handled in the area and then right at the death into injury time full-back Jose Enrique tripped Davies and the experienced frontman made no mistake, dispatching well on both occasions. Chung-Yong Lee was the other Bolton player to breach Krul's goal after Matt Taylor had hit the woodwork.

The Scunthorpe FA Cup tie in 2001 was notable mainly because Dean Holdsworth became the first Bolton player to score a hat-trick on home soil since the club left Burnden Park. The current Aldershot Town manager had winger Nicky Summerbee to thank for producing two sublime crosses for the first two goals of the Wanderers onslaught.

KEVIN NOLAN AND DEAN HOLDSWORTH (ABOVE) SCORES AGAINST SCUNTHORPE IN 2001

Nolan, who as mentioned had differing moments in two of Bolton's five goal feats over the last few years, scored twice against the Iron for what were his first goals in the FA Cup and at that time only his third goals in senior football.

Whilst another five goals would be welcome against Everton I am sure the manager and his players would just be happy to get the three points ahead of what will be a very busy few weeks of fixtures over the festive period.

MY MEMORY – EVERTON

Sticking with the five goals theme, one particular end-to-end game, a 3-2 against Everton, sticks out. This came on the final day of the 2004/2005 when both sides had qualified for a European place.

Usually the last game when things have already been decided is an anti climax but the excitement at the Reebok Stadium that May afternoon six years ago was tinged with sadness as it marked the end of an 18-year playing career for Spanish legend Fernando Hierro.

Real Madrid great Hierro had graced Bolton for one season only and for the second half of that year in particular his form was key to Wanderers finishing in the top six of the top division for the first time in over 40 years.

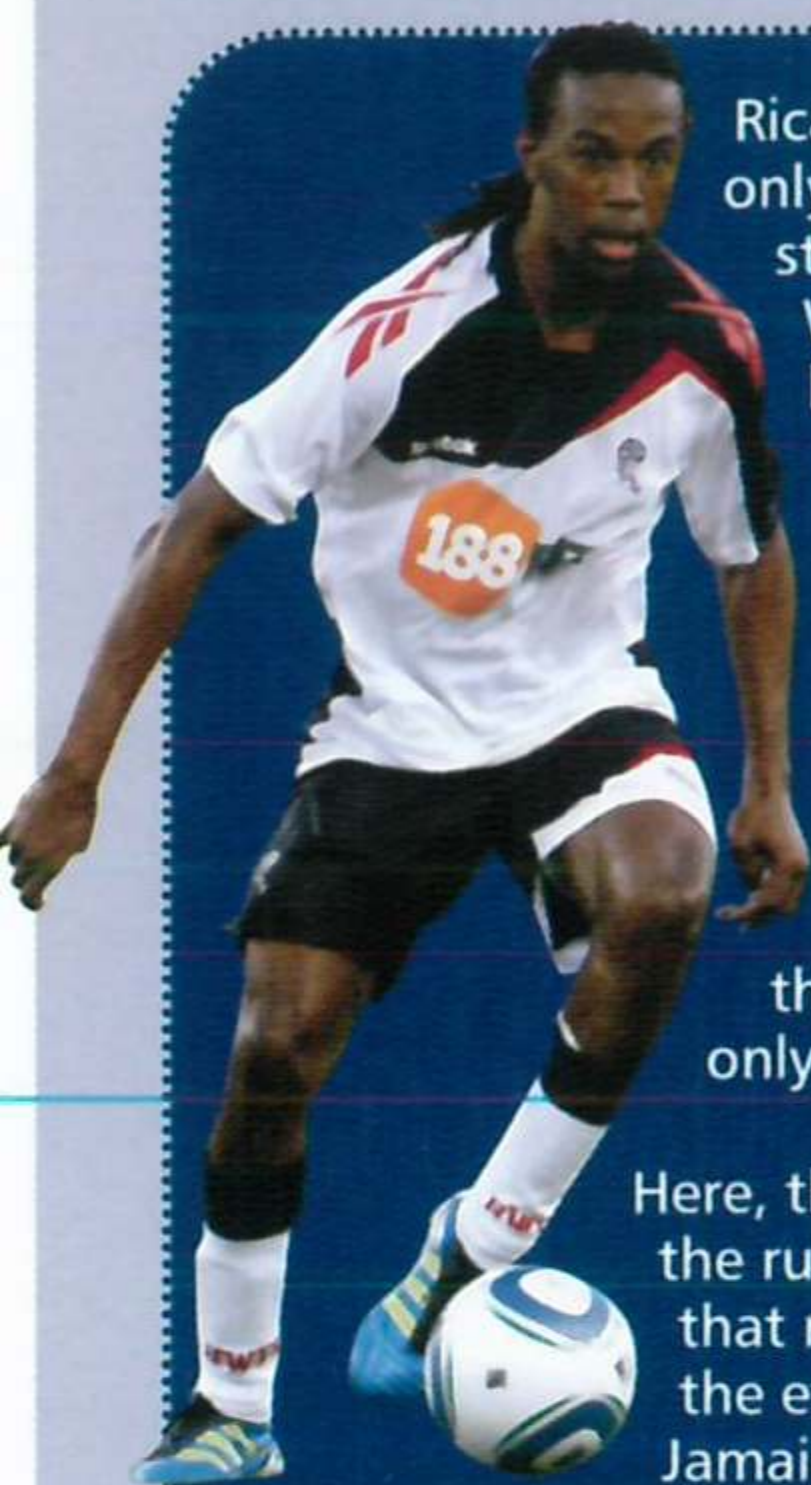

Tim Cahill gave Everton the lead that day with an overhead kick and Wanderers were reduced to ten men when Bruno N'Gotty was sent-off, but Bolton hit back in the second half when Radhi Jaidi headed the equaliser from Hierro's corner and Kevin Davies doubled the advantage with a shot from just inside the area.

Lee Carsley levelled the scores at 2-2 but Stelios capped-off a great year for the club and himself personally with the winner moments later when keeper Richard Wright had failed to grasp Davies initial effort.

FERNANDO HIERRO SAYS HIS GOODBYES IN 2005

TEAM-MATES

Ricardo Gardner not only holds legendary status amongst Bolton Wanderers fans, but back in his homeland of Jamaica.

The left-sider is revered amongst his natives in Jamaica ever since he helped the Reggae Boyz qualify for their one and so far only World Cup in 1998.

Here, the 33-year-old runs the rule over members of that memorable squad the etched their names in Jamaican folklore.

IAN GOODISON

I'm extremely good friends with Ian and see him most weeks. He's probably one of my best friends in football. I first met him when I started with the Jamaican national team. We go out and have meals together every now and then and throughout the week speak on the phone. During the summer I often go on holiday with him.

DEON BURTON

My early memories of Deon are from the World Cup qualifiers back in 1997. We hadn't had the best of starts in what was the final stages of qualification and were playing two crucial home games against Canada and Costa Rica in the space of a week. We won both the games 1-0 with Deon getting both goals. In the end we finished two points clear of Costa Rica and qualified, so Deon's goals were of huge significance.

THEODORE WHITMORE

Theodore was a great player and a hero for the Jamaican national team from when we reached the World Cup in 1998. He scored two goals for us in that tournament and was a great player. Now he's turned his hand to coaching and is in charge of the national team.

PETER CARGILL

Unfortunately we lost Peter in a car accident in 2005. He was a great guy and played for Jamaica a lot. I remember him most from when we qualified for the 1998 World Cup. There was a real family feel around the national team at that point and everyone got on so well. It was a sad day when he died and a big shock to everyone.

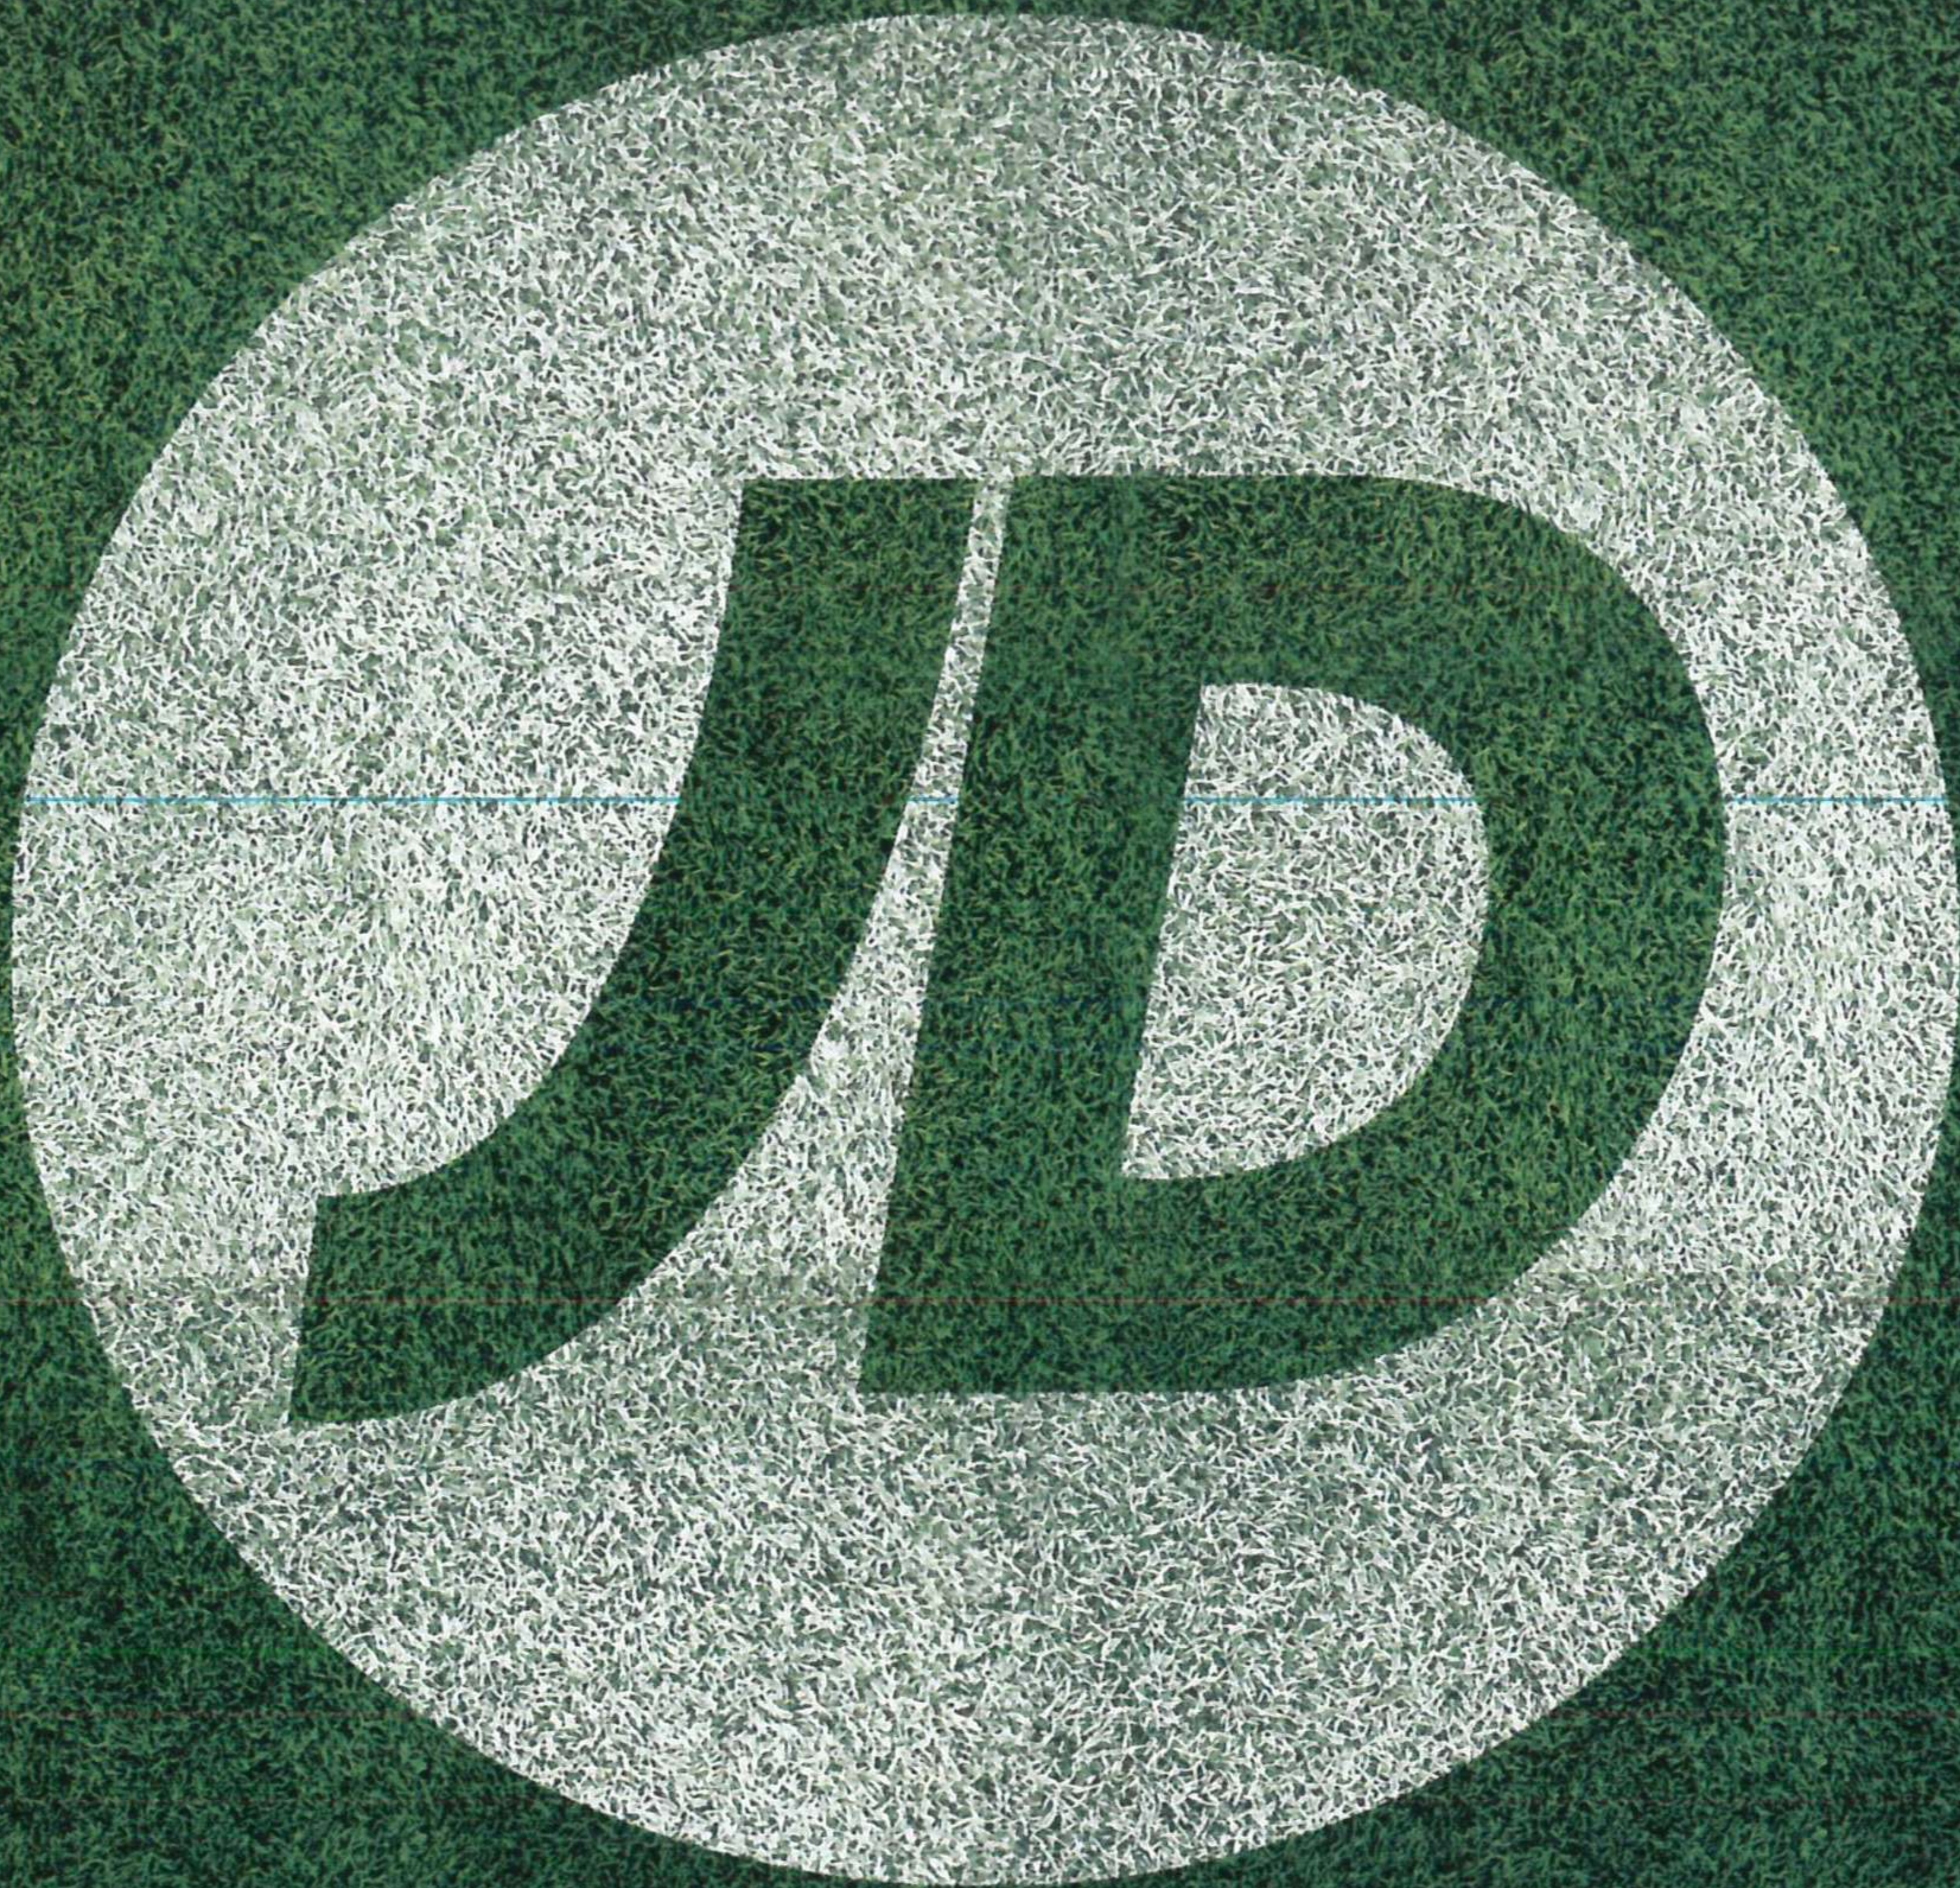

FITZROY SIMPSON

Fitzroy came and played a great role in helping us qualify for the World Cup. He's a great lad and had a great footballing brain on him.

RENÉ SIMÕES (COACH)

He was the one who made everyone's dreams come true, not only for the players but the whole country. It was a crazy time; qualifying for our first World Cup. Nobody ever even dreamed of making it to the World Cup, but when René came in he changed all that. Words cannot describe what he did to the country.

CREWE ALEXANDRA UNDER-18s 2 BOLTON WANDERERS UNDER-18s 1

The Bolton Wanderers Under-18s team slipped to defeat last weekend, losing 2-1 against Crewe Alexandra.

The Whites went into the break occupying a 1-0 lead after Dylan Wolstenholme latched on to a great pass from Luke Woodland to find the back of the net with a finish from 12 yards out with 20 minutes played.

But the game was turned on its head after half-time when the Railwaymen struck deflected goals on 65 and 75 minutes to take all the points.

Offering an assessment of the game, Head Coach David Lee said: We played well in the first half. We kept a lot of possession and Dylan scored a well-worked goal.

"In the second half we conceded two deflected goals, but we still created chances to add to our tally. We were denied a draw, if not a win, by a mixture of good goalkeeping and good defending.

"The game is a learning curve for the players because they will get an understanding of how they can close out games from a winning position."

 Bolton Wanderers: Fielding, Matthews, Maher, Threlkeld, Dennis, Wolstenholme, Colman, Woodland, Clough (Youngs 60), Iliev, Caton (Lester 60)

LIVERPOOL UNDER-18s 1 BOLTON WANDERERS UNDER-18s 2

Goals from Chris Lester and James Caton saw Wanderers' Under-18 side pick up a thoroughly deserved three points on Merseyside as they ran out 2-1 winners against a strong Liverpool side.

The first goal of what was a closely-contested affair came just after the break. Whilst in full flight winger Lester, who had made his reserve team debut just a few days earlier, was hauled down inside the penalty area. Lester dusted himself down to convert the resulting spot kick.

With Wanderers in the ascendancy, Liverpool's frustrations began to get the better of them and they were reduced to ten men when Kristoffer Petersen saw red for an off the ball incident.

David Lee and Tony Kelly's side then doubled their lead through Caton, who did well to finish from an acute angle following a sublime slide-rule ball from Tom Youngs.

Liverpool did manage to half the deficit when David Moli scored late on, but ultimately it was the Whites who left with three points.

Head Coach Lee said: "In total we had seven first year scholars who started the game which bodes well for the future. The desire, determination and commitment the lads showed was excellent. We deserved the win, and more importantly the performances from individuals were very good.

"Not many teams will go to Liverpool and not only get a result, but a complete performance. Overall, myself and Tony were thoroughly pleased with the whole squad."

 Bolton Wanderers: Fielding, Matthews, Maher (Colman 75), Dennis, Threlkeld, Wolstenholme, Woodland, Lester, Caton, Iliev, Clough (Youngs 60)

BOLTON WANDERERS RESERVES 2

SUNDERLAND RESERVES 2

A late equaliser from Jack Sampson earned Wanderers a deserved point against Sunderland in a hard fought game at the County Ground.

Michael O'Halloran had given the Whites the lead with a well taken strike, but the Mackems drew level with just ten minutes to go through Adam Reed.

It had looked as though Sunderland had snatched victory when Reed doubled his tally in the 89th minute, but Bolton hit back immediately to end the game all square.

The opening quarter of the game was fairly contested, with Ryan Noble testing Rob Lainton inside five minutes.

Sunderland's pressure was building however, and they almost took the lead just a minute later through Jordan Cook. Reed had played the ball over the top of the Bolton defence to the striker, but the youngster failed to capitalise as his shot trickled past the far post.

Reed was at the centre of the action shortly after, forcing the Bolton goalkeeper down low to keep the scores level.

Having withstood a tirade of Sunderland pressure, John Henry's side finally began to gain a foothold in the game.

A superb run down the right from Nathan Battersby deserved more on the half hour mark, with some last ditch defending from the Mackems preventing Sampson from converting an inch-perfect ball across the face of goal.

As the relatively quiet first half drew to a close, both sides enjoyed a handful of chances with Sampson fizzing a shot just over the bar and Noble going close for Keith Bertschin's side.

Half time substitute Chris Lester went within inches of making an instant impact shortly after the restart, but his shot drifted just over.

Sunderland were determined however and enjoyed chances of their own through James McClean and Cook who went close twice in quick succession.

It seemed only a matter of time before the deadlock was broken, and the Wanderers did duly oblige with just 16 minutes left.

Striker O'Halloran had been a thorn in the Mackem's side all evening, and unleashed a powerful shot from the edge of the area after excellent work from Andy Kellett. Despite it originally looking as though Lewis King had done enough to keep his side level, the ball bounced underneath the goalkeeper and into the net.

It was no more than the Whites deserved, but Sunderland hit back almost immediately as John Egan went close with his header.

O'Halloran went close to doubling his side's lead in the 78th minute after good work from substitute Georg Iliev, but King did well to deny him from close range.

Bertschin's side replied in emphatic fashion just a minute later however, with Reed firing home after Lainton had parried Cook's initial shot.

It was a cruel blow for the Bolton goalkeeper who was in fine form throughout the match, producing a number of excellent saves.

As the clock ran down both teams pushed for a winning goal, with Liam Marrs hitting the post for the Mackems.

Just as though it looked as if the game was heading for a draw, the Wanderers were hit with a sucker punch in the 89th minute as Reed unleashed a scorching shot into the top corner of the net which left Lainton helpless.

With just a minute of play left, it looked bleak for the home side. Not to be deterred however, the Wanderers stunned Sunderland immediately from the restart with a beautifully executed volley from Jack Sampson.

A share of the spoils was no more than Bolton deserved after a determined display.

Bolton Wanderers: Lainton, Battersby, Blakeman, McQuade, Connolly, Irwin, Caton (Lester 45), Vela (Iliev, 65), Sampson, O'Halloran, Kellett (Unused substitutes: Lynch, Eckersley, MacGregor)

Sunderland: King, Marrs, Liddle (Elliott 90), Reed, Egan, Laing, Lynch, Knott, Noble (Deacon 73), Cook, McClean (Unused substitutes: Wilson, Gorin, Oliver)

PREMIER LEAGUE ENTERPRISE CHALLENGE 2011

The Premier League Enterprise Challenge (PLEC) is an annual event sponsored by the Premier League. It has been running at other clubs across the country for the past two years and this was the first time Bolton schools took part in the competition.

Pupils are challenged to design a business solution around a current theme set by Richard Scudamore Chief Executive of the Premier League, with this year's challenge being: 'Taking into consideration new technologies and designs, what would you implement to enhance the supporter/match day experience at Premier League matches?'

It is an exciting competition and the 200 plus pupils taking part have showed great imagination, drive and enterprise throughout the development stages. The school finals took place on November 1 at the Reebok Stadium and it was an exciting afternoon with some of Bolton's next generation of entrepreneurs show casing their talents and abilities.

Sharples High School won the Bolton final after designing a lottery scheme in which fans won exclusive seating behind the two respective dugouts on matchdays.

Other entries from Essa Academy, St Josephs and Little Lever included television systems that fit into the back of seats and an earpiece for supporters that allows them to listen to live commentary at the game.

As a result Sharples High School travelled to the capital where at White Hart Lane, the home of Tottenham Hotspur, the pupils competed in a grand final event that was ultimately won by Blackpool.

MATCH REPORT

Wanderers were edged out at the Hawthorns as Shane Long's second-half header won the points for West Bromwich Albion.

The Baggies had nudged themselves in front after just a quarter of an hour in controversial fashion when Jerome Thomas converted from close-range, despite a suggestion of offside against Long in the build-up.

Bolton's response was almost instant as Ivan Klasnic levelled from the penalty spot after Fabrice Muamba had taken a tumble inside the area.

In a second-half much quieter than the first, Long struck the decisive blow with a well-placed header that beat Jussi Jaaskelainen with help from the inside of the post on 56 minutes.

THE GAFFER

"We came into the game off the back of a fantastic result against Stoke City.

"We knew that a win would have moved us right back into the mix with half a dozen teams and it is frustrating to have come away from the game on the wrong end of the result.

"I felt we had a very good first half in which we battled well, were committed and were the better team. After we fell behind I thought we bounced back and scored a deserved equaliser. We then had chances to get in front."

GARY CAHILL

The central defender was unlucky not to open the scoring with a well-timed header early on and performed admirably at the back whilst wearing the captain's armband for the majority of the second half.

THIS WEEK AT WANDERERS

Each issue the official matchday programme explores Bolton Wanderers stories and events from yesteryear which made the headlines during that respective week

19 NOVEMBER 1985

The birth of Chris Eagles. Last weekend the midfielder celebrated his 26th birthday. In his career to date, the wideman has made a total of 233 competitive appearances and scored 37 goals; at an average of just over one every three matches. With Bolton, he currently boasts a tally of four strikes, with his most recent arriving in the win over Stoke City three weeks ago.

20 NOVEMBER 2010

Just over a year ago, Wanderers went goal crazy as they thumped Newcastle United 5-1 at the Reebok. Kevin Davies and Johan Elmander each netted a double, with Chung-Yong Lee chipping in with the other. It capped a miserable return to the Reebok for former favourite Kevin Nolan, who was playing in his first game against the Whites since leaving for Tyneside 22 months earlier.

21 NOVEMBER 1990

Bolton and Swindon town played out an epic third round Rumbelows Cup tie with four matches needed to eventually determine who would progress to the next stage of the competition. After a 3-3, 1-1 and another 1-1, it was the Robins who won the contest, triumphing 2-1 in the fourth meeting. In total, seven-and-a-half hours of football were played between the two clubs.

22 NOVEMBER 1950

Nat Lofthouse scored both goals on his full international debut for England as the Three Lions drew 2-2 with Yugoslavia at Highbury.

25 NOVEMBER 1972

There was a comical moment in Bolton's game with Rotherham when Jim McDonagh, goalkeeper for the Millers, placed the ball down for what he felt was a goal-kick, only for Garry Jones to slot the ball in the unguarded net when the referee waved play on.

McDonagh later went on to play for Bolton where he was yet again involved in a unique goal, however this time he was the man to benefit. In a game against Burnley at Burnden Park in 1983, the Irish international took advantage of the unpredictable windy conditions to lift his kick high over the head of opposite number Billy O'Rourke in what was then a key Wanderers victory for that season against a side who were also struggling for results.

27 NOVEMBER 1996

Bolton recorded their biggest-ever victory in the League Cup as they demolished Tottenham Hotspur 6-1 at Burnden Park. John McGinlay bagged a hat-trick, while Gerry Taggart, Nathan Blake and Scott Taylor also found the net.

Media Watch with JACK DEARDEN

BBC RADIO MANCHESTER'S JACK DEARDEN CONTINUES HIS COLUMN IN THE MATCHDAY PROGRAMME.

Here's a little known fact – I once played for a team which was managed by David Moyes. I'm sure that Everton's manager forgot about the day instantly but I certainly haven't!

It was a fair few years ago and was a testimonial match at Boundary Park for David Eyres, who used to play with David Moyes at Preston North End. It was a David Eyres All-Star XI versus a Rest of the World XI managed by Moysie, and I was lucky enough to get a call-up. I can only presume that someone pulled out of the original squad because I was drafted in at the last minute. The fact that I only live a couple of miles away from Oldham's ground probably had something to do with it too.

The likes of Paddy McGuinness, Iain Dowie, Denis Irwin and Tony Philliskirk all took some part in the game. I think we got absolutely battered and from what I remember the score was something like 13-4, but it was a great day. I've always had a high regard for Moyes for what he has achieved in his career and that day just cemented the opinion I already had of him because he was fantastic with everyone who played.

When you look at David Moyes, he has certainly brought success to Everton over the last ten years. People put their own interpretation on that word but when you look at their budget, he has always made his teams competitive and hard to beat. He is now the Premier League's third longest serving manager, so that in itself says a lot about him.

I've been covering Bolton Wanderers for 14 years and this fixture has thrown up a few games down the years that spring to my mind. I particularly recall a game at Goodison about five years ago at Christmas time and Bolton went there and thumped Everton 4-0, and, of course, there was the infamous meeting in what was the first-ever game at the Reebok Stadium in 1997 when Bolton scored the goal that never was (below), with Terry Phelan clearing the ball even though it was a couple of feet over the line.

I will never ever subscribe to the theory that things in football even themselves out. As everyone knows, had that goal been given Bolton would have stayed up and Everton would have been relegated, so where was the justice in that? A few years later and the Toffees were celebrating the fact that they had remained in the top division for 100 years. That wouldn't have happened if it had been for one decision, but that's all in the past.

As far as today is concerned, it goes without saying that it is going to be a difficult game for Bolton. But as much as last weekend, particularly the second half, was disappointing, the 5-0 win over Stoke City is still fresh in everyone's mind. It was a great afternoon and another win today and we will look at November having picked up six points from a possible nine, which is a decent return in the Premier League. I'm sure Owen Coyle will agree with me when I say that what the team needs is to go on a little run and remain three or four matches unbeaten, winning a couple and picking up the odd point here and there. It will restore a lot of belief and slowly move the club up the league table.

On another topic, I'd just like to say a few words about something which is generating a lot of discussion at the moment – Team GB at next summer's Olympics. In my view it should be down to a player whether he wants to take part and they should not be influenced by their relevant national football association. I've seen a lot of publicity and debate about this issue, but in my eyes it's a fantastic opportunity for players to be involved with what is recognised as one of the world's best sporting events. Why would people not want to participate in that?

I can understand that there are a few complications because there are the European Championships taking place in June, however for the players who won't be going to Poland and Ukraine, what an honour it would be to be competing at the Olympics. In football there are opportunities to win league and cup medals each season, but a chance to go and grasp an Olympic medal are few and far between. If Great Britain were lucky enough to win the competition, then a gold medal would look alright on the mantel piece.

So, if Stuart Pearce asked me did I want to be involved in the squad, my answer would be "what time do I have to be there? I'll bring my boots".

Enjoy the game and thanks for reading,
Jack.

NEVILLE SOUTHALL

THE MANAGER

DAVID MOYES

David Moyes will celebrate ten years in charge of Everton in March, an outstanding achievement for one of British football's brightest managers. The highly-rated Scot, 48, took the helm at Goodison Park in 2002 and has since transformed a side previously accustomed to the bottom half of the table into one challenging for European qualification.

He has triumphed over boardroom turmoil and financial restrictions, enhancing his reputation as a devoted and innovative coach, a strict disciplinarian and a supreme motivator. After a successful spell at Preston, Moyes took the post vacated by Walter Smith at the relegation-threatened Blues and his arrival precipitated an instant upturn in the club's fortunes.

Moyes referred to Everton as the "people's club" in his opening press conference and also spoke of his great ambitions for the Blues. This immediately endeared him to the Goodison faithful. With a new spirit of togetherness, Everton won three of their next four games and relegation was avoided. The following season the Blues finished seventh, only missing out on European qualification on the final day.

The following year was a dramatic anticlimax after the previous highs, and Everton finished fourth from bottom on just 37 points. Wayne Rooney was sold to Manchester United for £27million, but Moyes' dedicated approach and shrewd recruitment has ensured that Everton have consistently punched above their weight and regularly challenged for European qualification.

MEMORABLE MATCHES

03/04/79 BOLTON WANDERERS 3 EVERTON 1 DIVISION 1

Bolton Wanderers fought back to beat high-flying Everton at Burnden Park. The visitors went ahead on 25 minutes when Brian Kidd, making his debut for Everton, was felled by Peter Nicholson and Trevor Ross scored from the resultant penalty. Bolton equalised after 43 minutes when George Wood punched out Frank Worthington's corner and Willie Morgan rifled home from the edge of the box. Ian Greaves' side took the lead on 69 minutes when Worthington flicked on a cross from Tony Dunne and Neil Whatmore fired past Wood. Wanderers sealed victory in the 77th minute when Paul Jones headed in Morgan's corner.

17/12/05 EVERTON 0 BOLTON WANDERERS 4 PREMIER LEAGUE

Bolton Wanderers destroyed Everton with three goals in five minutes at Goodison Park. Bolton took the lead on 32 minutes when Davies headed home his first goal since the opening day of the season. Stelios Giannakopoulos doubled Bolton's advantage in the 75th minute, following a surging run and subtle pass from Ricardo Vaz Te. Wanderers increased their lead when Gary Speed converted a penalty against his former club, then Giannakopoulos scored again on 80 minutes after weaving through Everton's defence.

25/10/09 BOLTON WANDERERS 3 EVERTON 2 PREMIER LEAGUE

Bolton Wanderers secured their first home win of the season on Gary Megson's two-year anniversary as manager. Bolton started brightly and went ahead on 16 minutes when Sam Ricketts crossed for Chung-Yong Lee to shoot beyond the helpless Tim Howard. Everton responded and Jo struck the bar before Bolton doubled their lead with Gary Cahill's 27th minute header. Louis Saha reduced the deficit with a stunning shot five minutes later, then Everton equalised through Marouane Fellaini in the 55th minute. Substitute Ivan Klasnic (right) scored his first goal for Bolton on 86 minutes, firing low past Howard to snatch victory.

THE GROUNDS

Everton played at Stanley Park, Priory Road and Anfield before moving to Goodison Park. Everton beat Bolton 4-2 in the first match there in September 1892. The ground staged the 1894 FA Cup final between Bolton and Notts County, as well as the 1910 FA Cup final replay. Goodison Park became the only British football ground to have four double-decker stands when the Gwladys Street Stand was completed in 1938. The visit of Liverpool in September 1948 attracted a club record 78,299 crowd. The first floodlit match at Goodison Park was against Liverpool in October 1957 and the stadium was a 1966 World Cup venue.

ALAN STUBBS EXCLUSIVE

STUBBS: I'M LOVING LIFE IN MANAGEMENT FORMER FAVOURITE REVELS IN RESERVES ROLE

A Ian Stubbs remains a hugely popular figure at Bolton and Everton following his playing days, but the former centre-back is now enjoying the next phase of his career.

The 40-year-old has been on Everton's coaching staff since 2008 and is currently working as reserve-team boss at Goodison Park. He has ambitions to make a name for himself in management, as he told the official matchday programme.

"I'm in charge of the reserves and it's certainly been a fantastic learning curve for me. David Moyes has given me a great opportunity to learn my trade. Being a manager in my own right is something I've been considering and if a job came up somewhere, and I felt it was the right opportunity, then I'd like to pursue it. Yes, I do want to manage in the future and I'm hoping to get that opportunity.

"If I do half as well in management as I did during my playing career I would have done okay. If I can get a club that can match my ambitions that would be fantastic, but I'm under no illusions how difficult it is to get a job. It's tough in every walk of life right now."

After being released by Everton in his teens, Kirkby-born Stubbs went on to make his name at Burnden Park under Bruce Rioch. He joined Celtic in 1996 for £4.5million and helped them win the title two years later.

Stubbs looks back at his time with the Trotters with great affection as they dumped several leading sides out of the cup competitions and won promotion to the top flight in 1995.

Stubbs recalled: "When I look back at how things were at Bolton, the club as a whole has moved on massively since then. At Burnden Park, I would say there were literally 10 people working there, with just a few office staff and a couple of ground staff. But it was a very, very homely club and you were on first-name terms with everyone. It was a very friendly and happy place to be around. The club has gone through the roof since then. They have progressed and progressed and have ensured they are competing strongly in the Premier League year on year."

What was the highlight of his time at the club?

"I'd probably say beating Reading in the 1995 play-off final," said Stubbs. "There were obviously a lot of cup highlights but to come from behind in such dramatic circumstances to win promotion at Wembley stands out for me.

"We had some great cup runs, beating some top teams, and going to Highbury and winning was a massive feat, especially with the team Arsenal had at the time. I just look back at my time at Bolton with a lot of happiness. From the time I turned professional to the time I left, I'd had seven good years there, which people forget sometimes. We had a great group of lads and a good mix of youth and experience, plus a superb manager in Bruce, of course. I feel we achieved quite a lot in the time I was there. Then I joined Celtic."

Stubbs had enjoyed an eventful spell in Scotland. During his time at Parkhead he won an array of honours including a Championship winners medal and a Scottish Cup winners medal in his last season north of the border. He also won a personal battle during his time in Scotland by beating testicular cancer on two separate occasions and marked his comeback the second time around with a goal against Hibernian at Easter Road.

Stubbs said: "Going to Celtic was probably a path that I didn't see myself taking as lot of people thought I'd be going to another Premier League club. Celtic at the time came in really, really quickly, not long after the last game of the season, although Arsenal also wanted to sign me. But Celtic couldn't have worked out any better and then going to Everton, well I wouldn't have gone to any other club."

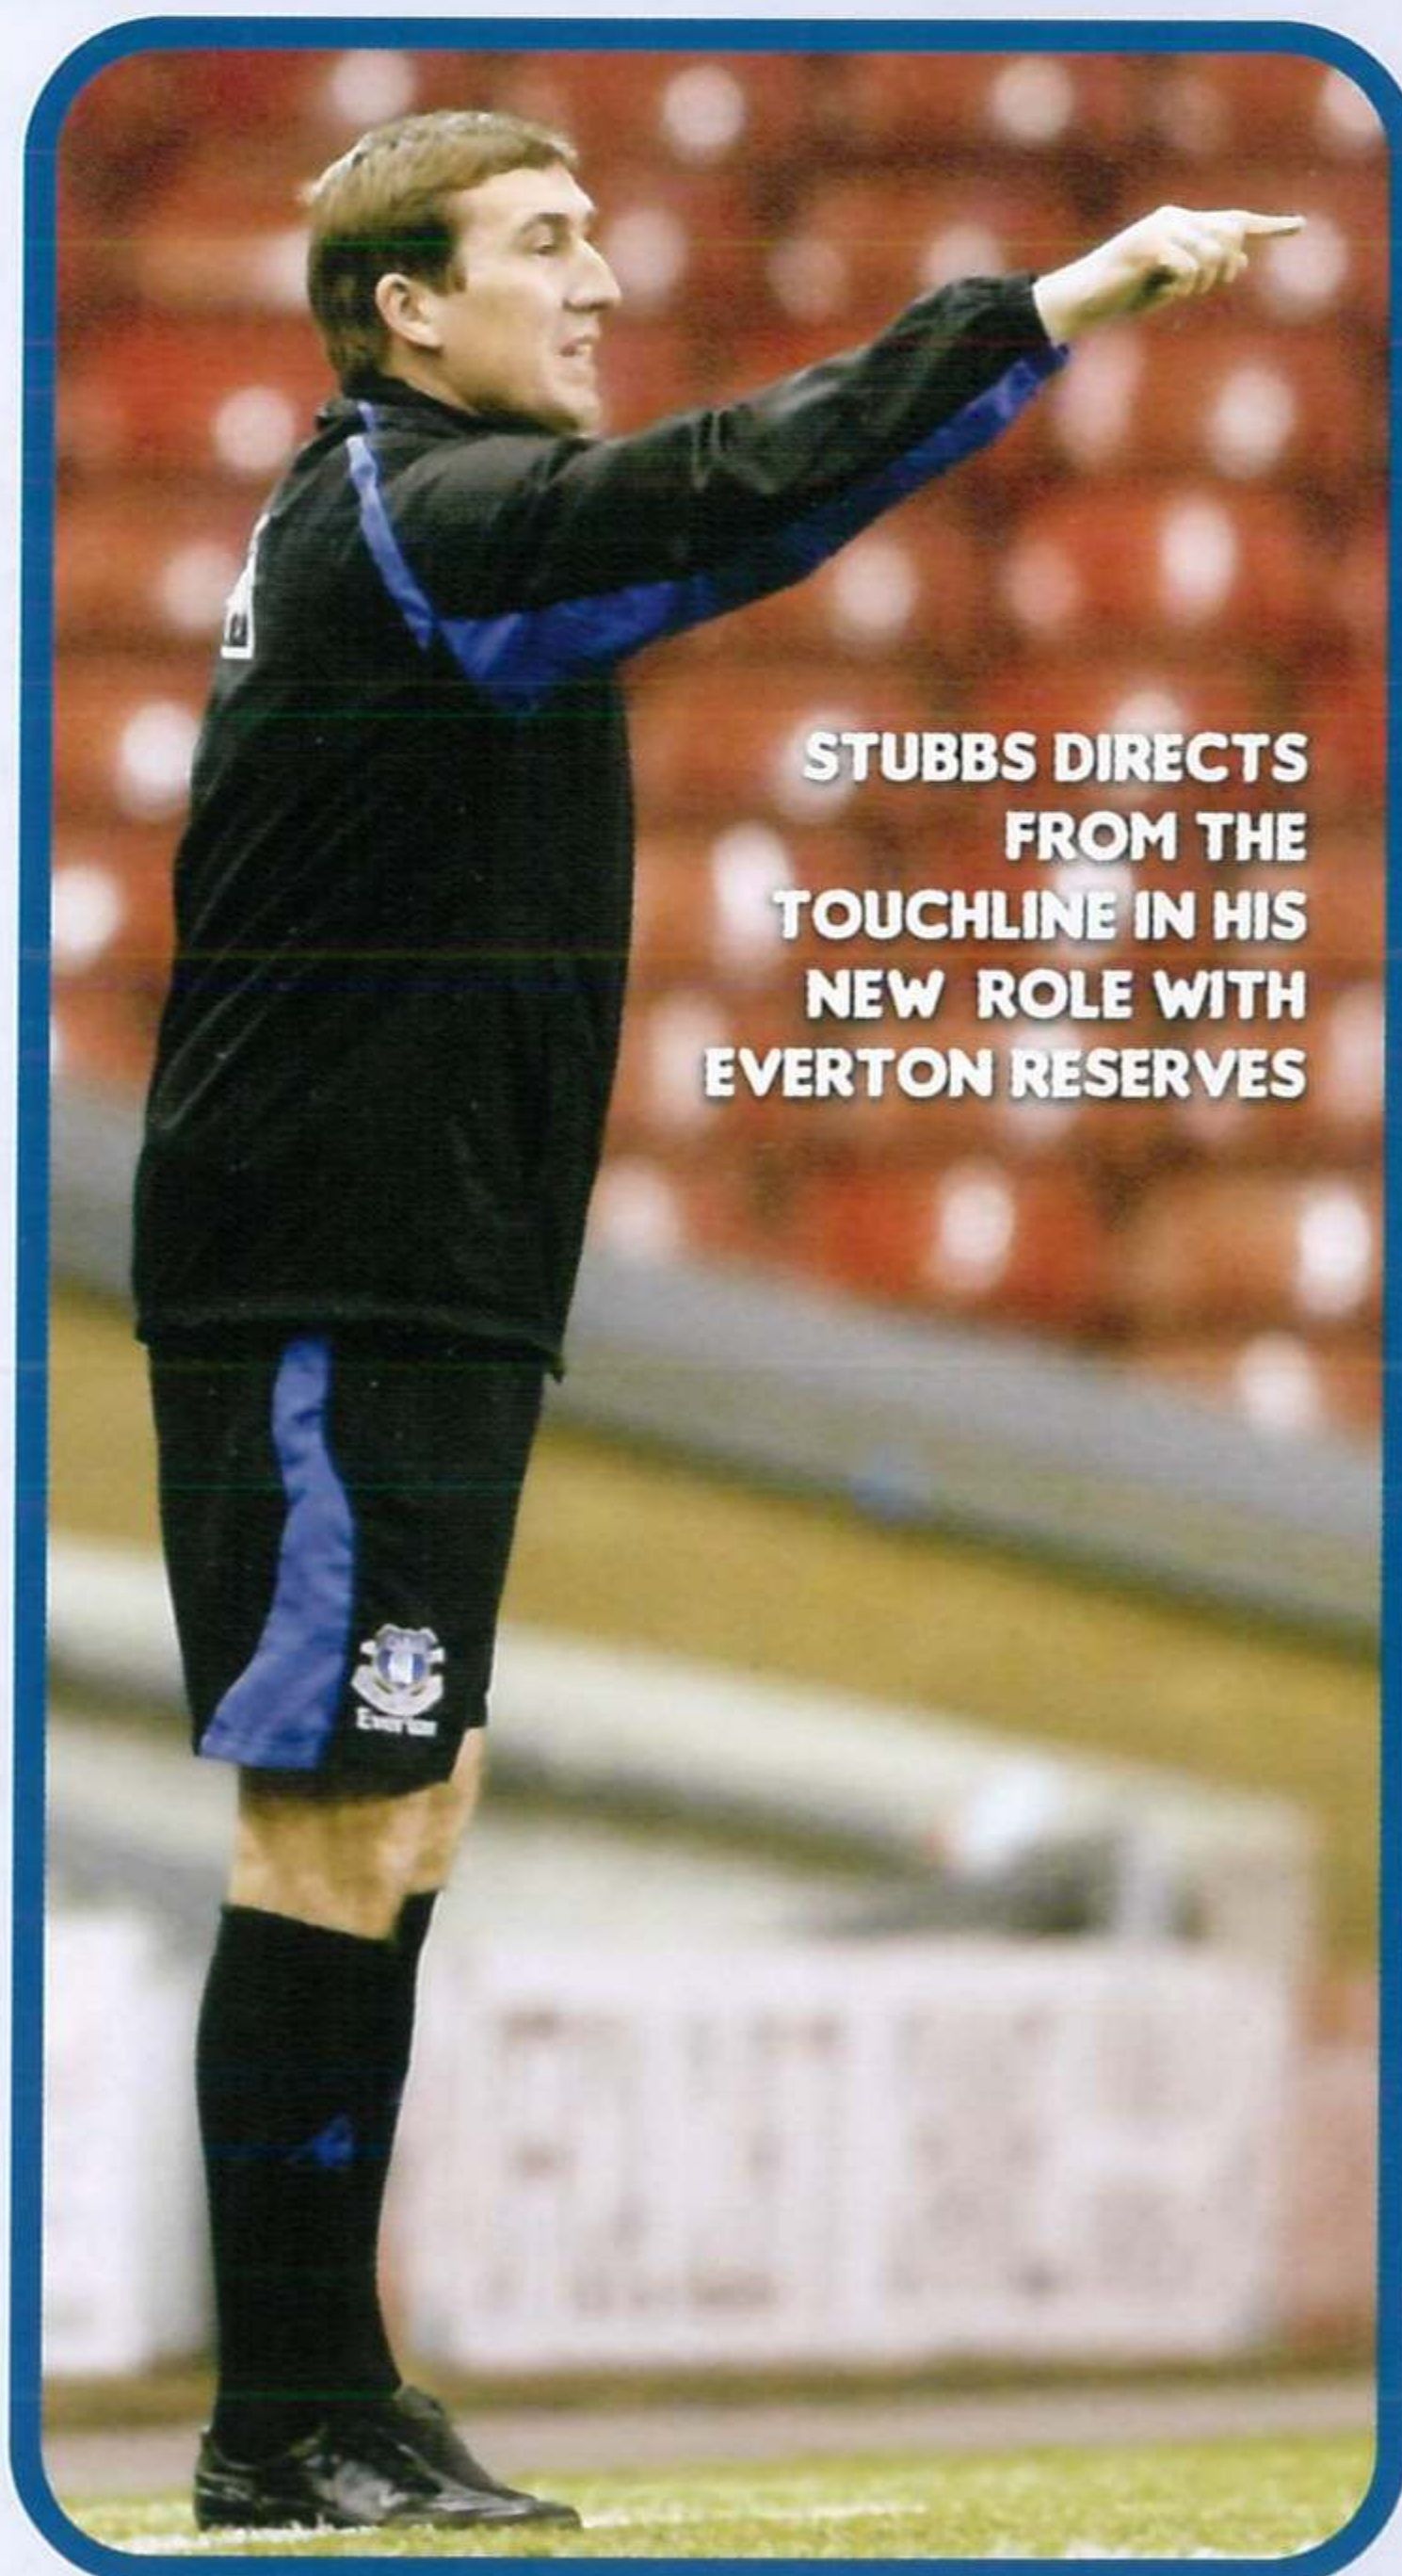

In 2001, Stubbs joined Everton before ending his first spell at Goodison in the summer of 2005. Stubbs then made nine appearances for the Sunderland before rejoining Everton on a free transfer to bolster the defensive ranks.

He added: "It was great to come back to Everton and in total I had six-and-a-half to seven years there which was brilliant. I had six months at Sunderland in between that, which didn't really work out, and then at the end of my career I had a short stint at Derby. I was coming towards the end of my playing days and my thoughts were coming onto the next stage of my career."

Having joined the coaching staff at Goodison three years ago, Stubbs has seen Everton make a slow start to their Barclays Premier League campaign. The same could be said of Bolton, of course, but the former defender reckons there is much more to come from both teams.

He reasoned: "Bolton and Everton would have wanted to make a better start to the season. We've had a tough start and I know Bolton have played quite a few of the top teams as well. You have take those things into account. I'm sure the manager will be looking to pick up more points in the second half of the season and you can say the same about Owen. I know Coyle really well. He's a great lad and a good manager. I can see today being a cracking match – Bolton-Everton games usually are."

STUBBS DIRECTS FROM THE TOUCHLINE IN HIS NEW ROLE WITH EVERTON RESERVES

“ I KNOW COYLEY REALLY WELL. HE’S A GREAT LAD AND A GOOD MANAGER. I CAN SEE TODAY BEING A CRACKING MATCH – BOLTON-EVERTON GAMES USUALLY ARE.”

Christmas Carol Service 2011

Bolton Wanderers will be holding their annual Christmas carol service on Monday 19 December in the Premier Suite at the Reebok Stadium.

Doors for this year's event will be opening at 6.30pm in advance of a 7pm start. The service is expected to last for approximately one-and-a-half hours.

Supporters are invited to send in their requests for which carols they would like to be sung on the evening, and they can do so by emailing pmason@bwfc.co.uk.

Bolton Central will be open for late night shopping on that day so fans can pick up their last minute gifts ahead of Christmas just six days later.

The award winning Smithills School Senior Band and Choir will be leading the music and carols for the evening under the leadership of Chris Wormald.

Tower FM have confirmed they will be recording the evening to go out on air on Christmas morning, whilst Lofty will perform during the evening alongside the Reebok Rebels.

107.4 Tower FM are the local radio station for Bolton and surrounding areas and are an official broadcast partner of Bolton Wanderers providing full commentary on every home and away game.

Tickets for the event are free and available now either by phone on 08448 712932 (option 1 then option 3) or by calling in at Bolton Central.

Bolton Wanderers Football Club would like to remind all supporters that the Reebok Stadium is a NO SMOKING VENUE and would ask that this policy is respected at all times.

IMPORTANT SAFETY NOTICE

In order to comply with Football League safety directives, Bolton Wanderers must ensure that supporters remain seated during matches. Supporters from both sides are therefore asked to refrain from standing for long periods of the game, it spoils it for others around you, and is a safety hazard. Everyone wants to enjoy themselves, but please understand the club's priority is to ensure the safety and well being of all spectators.

SKIPPER CONTINUES PRINCE'S TRUST WORK

Wanderers captain Kevin Davies took time out of his schedule earlier this month to see the good work being done by the Prince's Trust at the Bolton YMCA. The charity had volunteered to lend their assistance in renovating the facility on Deansgate, in Bolton town centre.

The painting and decorating that had been done is part of a twelve week development programme supported by Greater Manchester Fire and Rescue Service for 16-24-year-olds. Over the last decade, England's professional football clubs have supported trust programmes to help disadvantaged young people with their job prospects.

Kevin spent time with the youngsters who have been involved with the project, chatting to them and answering questions- which included a request for him to play for their five-a-side team!

The Premier League, PFA and Football Foundation provide the necessary funding and almost 11,000 young people have gone back into education or employment thanks to the initiative

RL AND DW @ JD

Wanderers supporters had the opportunity to meet and greet Rob Lainton and David Wheater last Thursday at BWFC@JD, Bolton Market Place.

The Wanderers duo appeared at the retail outlet in Bolton town centre where they were on hand to sign autographs and pose for photos with fans.

Fans queued outside the store before being given the opportunity to meet the players.

BWFC@JD, along with Bolton Central, sell a whole variety of exclusive and official Bolton Wanderers merchandise which make for the perfect Christmas gift for the Wanderers fan in your life, whether it be replica shirts, calendars, DVDs or photographs.

JD are the Official Retail partners to Bolton Wanderers.

WANDERERS DUO GO BACK TO SCHOOL

Fabrice Muamba and Paul Robinson went back to school on Monday 7 November to help kick-off National School Meals Week at Beaumont Primary School and give children an insight into their eating habits.

NSMW is the biggest national healthy eating awareness week about school meals in Britain and takes place from Monday 7 to Friday 11 November to encourage everyone to get involved in promoting healthy school dinners in primary and secondary schools.

Fabrice and Paul spent time at Beaumont Primary School enjoying a school meal with year five pupils before speaking to the children about the importance of healthy eating and answering questions in a quick fire quiz that had been designed by the pupils to find out more about the players' eating habits.

The week, which is organised by the Local Authority Caterers Association, is supported by Bolton Council who has encouraged schools to join to get more pupils in primary and secondary schools to have a healthy meal that meets the nutrient standards laid down by the respective national body or government.

JUSSI AND MARCOS LIGHT UP MIDDLEBROOK

Wanderers duo Jussi Jaaskelainen and Marcos Alonso marked the start of the festive season at Middlebrook last Thursday as they flicked the switch to turn on the Christmas lights at the retail park.

After taking to the stage for a question and answer session, Jussi and Marcos were joined by competition winner Bethany Edgar to press the plunger to swathe Middlebrook in Christmas spirit.

Bethany won the opportunity to join the Wanderers pair on stage after the retail park management worked together with the volunteer charity Reading Help to invite pupils from schools across Bolton, Chorley and Wigan to design a Christmas picture for a drawing competition.

Five runners-up were also invited along to join in the festive celebrations and following the Christmas lights switch on and carols, the five youngsters were called up on stage to receive their prizes from Jussi and Marcos.

Families and shoppers attending the switch on were treated to festive goodies to keep them warm including mince pies from Greggs, cookies from Subway, coffee from Starbucks and pizza from Ask Italian.

The event was also supported by Churches Together in Horwich carol singing, Alberto, Chiquito's mascot and Max the Middlebrook Moose also greeted shoppers on the evening.

BIBI BREAKS THROUGH ON THE WORLD STAGE

82

Kitted out in a flamboyant yellow strip and white boots, Ricardo Gardner's performances at World Cup '98 in France caught the eye of many people, most crucially that of Colin Todd who brought the winger to Bolton shortly after the tournament had concluded.

The 19-year-old featured prominently for the Reggae Boyz in what was their debut World Cup campaign, where they pitted their wits against Argentina, Croatia and Japan. They weren't to make it out of the group stage but Jamaica's colour, flair and cavalier approach earned them many admirers across the globe.

They finished their fixtures with a memorable 2-1 win against Japan, with a double from Theodore Whitmore ensuring that they went home with three points to their name. But for Gardner, arguably his biggest contribution came in the opening group match against Croatia when he delivered a precise cross from the left for Robbie Earle to put the Caribbean outfit back on level terms.

The winger was soon on his way to English football after securing a £1million move from Harbour View. He has since spent the last 13 years with Wanderers, aside from a short one-month loan deal with neighbours Preston North End at the back end of last season.
